MITCHELL AGAIN TAKES UP FIGHT ON ARMY, NAVY

Declares Intention to Struggle For Single Defense Department.

Asserts "Military Bureaucracy" Most Powerful Unit In Nation.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—William Mitchell, private citizen, resumed late Monday his fight against army and navy management of the national defense.

The former air officer took the cudgled just five hours after he received official notification that his commission as colonel, U. S. A., had been vacated at his request, by direction of President Coolidge. He recalled his efforts to "better conditions from within the service," and declared his intention as a citizen to keep up the struggle for a national defense "organized in a single department."

Mitchell's statement, the first of the kind issued since he attacked the war and navy departments in the celebrated statements he made public at San Antonio last September, which led to his conviction and sentence by a courtmartial for insubordination, was a bristling denunciation of existing defense policies. Striking out against "military bureaucracy," he declared "our government has become one of bureaucratic domination."

To Tour Country.

At the same time, he announced that he would tour the country for the next three months to carry "straight to the people" a picture of "the true condition of our national defense." This, he said, he could do better as a citizen than by "remaining muzzled in the army."

Army and navy bureaucracies, he charged, "have consistently and purposely misled congress and the people. * * * have manipulated the laws so that they can control the armed forces even against the action of the president himself * * * have coerced, bulldozed and attempted to ruin patriotic officers," and have shaken the land and sea forces in their conception of duty.

COOLIDGE HOLDS REAL EFFORT TO ENFORCE LAWS

President Hopes Country Will Not Take Criticisms "Too Seriously."

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—President Coolidge has not been insensible to the repeated attacks against his administration made recently in and out of congress and he is hoping the country will not take these criticisms too seriously.

There were plain indications today that some of the recent assaults on administration policies had greatly impressed officials at the white house. Desirous of replying, but unwilling to authorize any direct quotation of the president himself, these officials explained Mr. Coolidge's attitude about as follows:

He is hopeful the public will not pay too much attention to speeches made in congress or elsewhere charging failure to enforce law and promote the best interests of the people.

He holds that he and his cabinet are doing thier utmost to enforce laws impartially and promote the prosperity of the American public.

The country can rest assured, he believes, that this is being done despite efforts to make the situation appear otherwise.

He thinks it ought to be remembered, in taking stock of the situation, that this is the reason why there is a tendency to inject politics into public discussions.

On such subjects as the recent attacks on the department of justice and criticism of his own course in dealing with the tariff commission, the president prefers to remain silent. Renewed attempts to secure commnt on these subjects from th white house today failed.

ANOTHER SHIP'S CREW IS SAVED

Westphalia Takes Aboard Twenty Men From Alkaid 1,000 Miles at Sea.

New York, Feb. 2.—(By the Associated Press.) — The wireless raised its voice Monday above its week long chorus of distress to tell of another rescue from the Atlantic's unleashed gale.

It sputtered a brief dozen words into the Hamburg-American offices from Capt. Carl Graalfs of the liner Westphalia, saying he had saved the officers and crew of the Dutch freighter Alkaid.

"Crew of Alkaid taken aboard," he said. "All well, to proceed to New York."

The now familiar refrain of distress was immediately resumed, telling of one more ship floundering and another sixteen days overdue and lost. It was the fifteenth repetition of that refrain since the gale began eight days ago.

The Westphalia came alongside the distressed Alkaid Monday morning, about 1,000 miles off the coast of New Foundland. The freighter had about twenty men aboard, as far as could be learned here. She was bound from Rotterdam to Philadelphia.

The Westphalia, carrying 248 passengers, was due yesterday, but is not expected now until Thursday or Friday.

The missing ship, which figured in yesterday's messages is the British freighter Rygurn, which left Rotterdam on December 28, with a load of coal for Philadelphia. She is sixteen days overdue and no word has been heard from her since she left Rotterdam.

An appeal was broadcast to ships at sea, asking if they had sighted her during the storm. She had thirty-two officers and men aboard.

The four men, all masked and with drawn pistols, forced their way into the building as Peter Rafferty, the watchman, was closing the lobby doors at midnight. They overpowered and tied him and George Sullivan, clerk.

While the prisoners watched the robbers then started a leisurely job on the main vault, burning through the door with an acetylene torch

When the door had been wrecked, the men calmly piled the supply of stamps into eleven mail pouches and left.

CAR MYSTERY IS BEING CLEARED

Sheriff Says Hoyle Admits He Ran Auto Into River.

BEATRICE, Neb., Feb. 2.—(A. P.)—The mystery surrounding the finding of a woman's glove, handkerchief and a strand of hair in the Blue river near Barneston last week, is expected to be cleared up Wednesday.

Sheriff John R. Sailing announced that Arthur Hoyle, whose automobile was recovered from the river near where the other articles were found, has admitted he drove the machine into the stream. Although Hoyle has not made a complete confession, it is known the car was insured. He has consented to make a clean breast of the entire affair Wednesday and will probably shed some light on the finding of the other articles in the stream together with the footprints of a man and a woman in the freshly fallen snow, Sailing said.

The finding of the gloves, handkerchief and the presence of the footprints, led officers to believe that a woman had been murdered and the body thrown into the river. A day was spent in dragging the river for traces of a woman's body.

Hoyle has not made application for insurance, Sheriff Sailing said and thus no charges will be filed, but it is likely he will be forced to reimburse the county for the expenses incurred in recovering his car.

ED HARRIS, A TRIPLE KILLER, IS SENTENCED

Confessed Negro Murderer and Attacker To Pay Death Penalty March 5, Following Sixteen Minute Hearing---Lexington An Armed Camp.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Feb., 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Ed Harris, negro, pleaded guilty here today to an attack on Mrs. Clarence Bryant, whose husband and two children he had confessed to murdering, and was sentenced to be hanged Friday, March 5, in the Fayette county jail yard. The trial lasted exactly sixteen minutes.

It was one of the speediest trials in the history of the county. Court was called promptly at 9 o'clock. Prosecuting Attorney Maury Kemper elected to try the defendant on the charge growing out of his attack on Mrs. Bryant here January 19.

Conviction in this case carried the death penalty of hanging. Charges against the negro for the murder of Mr. Bryant and the children were not called.

"Substitute" In Tank.

The negro had been brought here early today from the state reformatory at Frankfort in Adjutant General Kehoe's automobile while a national guard officer rode in a tank and not until after arrival here did anyone save a few officers of the 1,000 national guardsmen on duty know that an officer and not the negro was in the tank.

The courtroom was crowded, but there was no demonstration whatever when the jury returned its verdict. Circuit Judge Richard C. Stoll, presiding, kept the crowd within the room while the negro was whisked away.

Harris was taken back to the state reformatory at Frankfort within little more than an hour after sentence. The entire procedure was quiet and shortly after word came of his safe arrival at Frankfort the state troops were leaving Lexington.

Take Every Precaution.

Groundhog Fails To See Shadow Here and Over Most of Nation

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The national annual farce entitled "Ground hog day" was staged today with sombre scenery over most of the county, with its consequent bright promise of an early spring.

The title role was played by numerous ground hogs, according to the Indiana game commissioner, who reported these little animals abundant in the middle west and doing much damage to crops, contrary to their general reputation as rather innocent prognosticators.

The weather map indications were not unanimously in favor of the ground hog, however. It showed sunshine in New Mexico generally, Texas, Arizona, Colorado, Utah, Birmingham, Chattanooga, Florida cities, Atlanta, and in New England, where presumably the chief actors abandoned their histrionic roles for their domestic holes and the traditional six weeks of slumber to escape a continuing winter.

Generally, elsewhere, skies were overcast, with snow in some New York sections, Indiana and Illinois. It was so dark and foggy around Rock Island, Ill., that some fear was expressed lest Mr. Ground Hog woul be unable to find his way home again.

Failed To Appear Here.

No ground hog saw the shadow of a great event—namely himself—when he appeared in Lancaster county Tuesday precisely at the noon hour.

That is the dictum of Lancaster county officialdom.

Two county commissioners, a county judge, sheriff and clerk gazed through misty court house windows at the time stipulated, shook their heads and solemnly echoed, "He never could have seen it."

"His shadow was sunk without a trace," ruled Robin R. Reid judicially. The clerk, the sheriff and two commissioners backed him to a man.

Only J. R. Bennett was dubious. "It's all right now, but how about this afternoon," he queried. Someone explained anxiously that the afternoon didn't count—that the sensitive beast makes his prognostications only when the sun is at its zenith.

"It may be so," the commissioner acquiesced. "However, I'm not a ground hog."

Only one of the county's employes claimed to have expert knowledge of the ground hog's movement. That one was J. F. Purbaugh, the county agent.

"There's a bunch of them along Salt creek," he volunteered. "I was going down to see them this noon, but it's just as bad to scare them yourself as to let them get scared by a shadow. So I let well enough alone."

Waverly G. A. R. Post Dwindles To Five With Death H. W. Scott

"Taps" sounded this morning for H. W. Scott of Waverly.

And when that word went forth in the village the eyes of five old men grew dim. Another comrade of the stress of battle and the calm of everyday living had gone beyond the great divide.

And with his passing, the roster of the Waverly G. A. R. post has grown so pitifully short.

Days were when this post, known as No. 38, had 178 active members. And fifty-two years ago, when its attendants were young and active men, it had a charter membership of forty-five.

Tonight, five names are left on the roster.

Late in the fall of 1925, but seven were left. Since that time, two have answered the final summons.

It has been a long time since Post No. 38 has held a regular meeting. Its members found even the simple duties too wearisome, for they are old men, the youngest in the seventies, and the memories of those who could never come again too sad, in the twilight hours of their own lives.

Just once each year have the comrades met. That one time, just before Memorial day, when they planned for the decoration of the graves in the little Waverly cemetery, where lie so many of the members of Post No. 38.

SUPERVISION IS SESSION TOPIC

Subject Discussed at Tuesday Meeting of County School Officials.

Lancaster Pupils Give Demonstration; Election In Afternoon.

A group of addresses on supervision of schools, and a discussion by the group of "More Effective Supervision," composed the Tuesday morning program of the annual meeting of the County Superintendents association at the Lincoln hotel. Miss Maud Bery, president of the association, presided and conducted the discussion. Earl H. Watson, tenor of the University School of Music, accompanied by Charles Pierpont, sang a group of ballads.

The speakers were Archer L. Burnham, director of secondary education in Nebraska, Superintendent M. C. Lefler of the Lincoln schools, and Dr. M. S. Pittman, director rural education of the state of Michigan.

After a luncheon at the chamber of commerce, the afternoon was to be given over to a demonstration by Lancaster county pupils, the discussion of several topcs, and a business session and election of officers. The meeting was to close Tuesday afternoon.

"The county superintendent can follow up the inspector of the director of secondary education by aiding the local school authorities to get proper equipment and books, good teachers, and developing the right attitudes," said Mr. Burnham in his address, "Effective Supervision of High Schools Following Inspection."

"The program of studies is the most obvious point and method of contact between the pupil and the world outside him." Mr. Burnham continued. "A uniform rate of progress through this program is essential to the interests of the pupil. Equipment is the material means of contact with the program of studies. Equipment must be adequate, as books must be adapted to pupil and grade. Reference material is essential to anything but the most meager appreciations. We want to secure an immediate rseult, the ability to add common fractions for example, but what attitudes do we develop in establishing this ability? The attitude is as important as the ability. The whole sky of truth bends over each teaching process."

Hear Talk By Lefler.

The relations between the county and city superintendents of schools was the subject of Mr. Lefler. Their relations are first, official, he said, since each is a part of the educational machinery constituted by law. Second, they are professionally related, in that each is seeking to secure the best possible school system that can be built. The country boy of today may be the city resident of the future, and the city pupil of today may be a country resident tomorrow, Mr. Lefler declared. The third relation he touched up was the mutual relationship of giving and taking suggestions, and the last, a sincere, friendly relationship.

"The monetary value of supervision," declared Dr. Pittman, "is $45,000 a year per supervisor. That is, every dollar that is put into a rural school system can be virtually doubled, under a right plan of supervision." His subject was "What is Supervision of Rural Schools Worth."

First, he said, there should be a definite plan of supervision, and then the facts should be found before supervision begins, and afterwards. The results should be broadcast, he declared, to the children as well as the taxpayers.

Dr. Pittman based his estimation upon experiments he conducted when he was working upon his doctorate, and later experiments just completed in two Michigan counties with the ordinary equipment of rural school supervision. The two counties with a systemized plan of supervision showed progress of 185 per cent by the pupils as compared to the progress of similar counties without the systemized plan, he said.

VOLSTEAD WOULD BAN RUB ALCOHOL

Author of Dry Enforcement Act Starts Suit in St. Paul Federal Court.

ST. PAUL, Feb. 2.—(By the Associated Press). — A move to prevent the manufacture and sale of body rub alcohol throughout the United States was started here yesterday in Federal court by Andrew J. Volstead, author of the prohibition enforcement amendment.

Mr. Volstead, who now is a legal adviser of the northwest prohibition enforcement division, left late last night for Washington, where it was reported he would present the matter to prohibition officials.

Contending that regulations of the department of internal revenue, under which body rub alcohol is manufactured and sold, were nullified and revoked, in their entirety with the advent of the national prohibition law, Mr. Volstead seeks to have the permt law declared void. he permits are issued under formula No. 39, by the department at Washington. The law, Mr. Volstead declared in Federal court, was passed before the prohibition act named after him.

A decision upholding Mr. Volstead's contention would mean the automatic revocation of thousands of permits in the United States involving millions of dollars in invested capital.

Besides the possible stamping out of means of redistilling this "legal" alcohol into form for alleged illegal use, the decision would mean the abolishment of rub alcohol for industrial purposes, in trade uses, including the manufacture of perfumes and motion picture films.

Mr. Volstead launched his attack on body rub alcohol during a Federal court hearing in which the owners seek to recover seized shipments on grounds that the sale and shipments were legal.

DAVENPORT, Ia., Feb. 2.—Ralph A. Bogie and his wife, Eda Bogie, are in jail, following a recommendation made last night by a coroner's jury that the death of their foster son, Harold Marker Bogie, be investigated by the grand jury. The boy was adopted early in January and died a few weeks later. The foster parents were beneficiaries under a $10,000 insurance policy in his life.

Officials started the investigation when they learned of the insurance policy.

It was at first believed the boy was asphyxiated. His body was found in a room adjoining the kitchen in the Bogie home. The theory was advanced that he placed a kettle of potatoes on a gas range and that the water boiled over, extinguishing the flame.

Authorities also have indicated an inquiry might be started into the sudden death in 1922 of Mrs. Bogie's former husband, James Healey, a prominent Muscatine county farmer. Healey died twenty-four days after their marriage. At that time Bogie, her present husband, was a roomer in her home.

The boy was 16 years old.

Bogie, officers said, had admitted he was part negro and had successfully posed as a white man. He testified at the inquest that he did not know of the insurance taken out by his wife upon the youth's life.

An eastern company, it was said, had rejected an application for a $25,000 policy on the boy before one for $10,000 was issued by a Davenport company.

Harold's sister, Vida Barker, testified at the inquest that the boy had told her of narrowly escaping asphyxiation at the Bogie home several days before his death. The story was corroborated by a nurse at the orphanage where the girl makes her home.

When Harold was adopted, orphange officials said, Mrs. Bogie represented herself as Mrs. Belle Deming, a wealthy property owner of Des Moines.

Charges Woman Chiro Lacks a State License

Arraigned in municipal court Tuesday morning on charges of practicing as a chiropractor without a license, Dorcas J. Peterson, 828 North Twenty-sixth street, pleaded not guilty before Judge E. B. Chappell. Her hearing was set for February 11, with bond at $1500.

The woman was arraigned on five counts, on the complaint of Robert G. Anderson of the state department of public welfare. The first count charges that Miss Peterson falsely represented herself as a chiropractor without obtaining a license from the department of public welfare.

Four counts of the complaint charge the woman with representing herself as a chiropractor in four specific cases.

Student Is Fined For Speeding to Make "An 8 o'clock"

Fifteen dollars and costs was the penalty for Roy Anderson's hurry to an 8 o'clock class Tuesday morning.

Anderson was arrested by Officer Shiveley, who told Municipal Judge E. B. Chappell that Anderson was driving 35 miles per hour. Anderson, who is a student and athlete at the university, said he was hurrying to "make" a class at the agricultural college.

Olaf Nelson drew a fine of $10 and costs for violating an arterial stop signal, and R. D. Rodgers, taxicab driver, was fined $5 and costs for driving without lights. Miss E. Blumenthal was sent to Judge Chappell's school on a charge of passing a street car on the wrong side.

STICKNEY, Ill.—(I. N. S.)—Walter Krubert, 11, returned home today none the worse for having swallowed forty-five nails a week ago in an effort to astonish schoolmates. He has been in a hospital.

OPPONENTS TAX BILL GET BUSY

Program Of Senate Leaders For Speeding Up Action Receives Jolt.

Norris and Couzens Warn Against "Steam Roller;" Attack Mellon.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2. —(By the Associated Press.)—The program of senate leaders for speeding up consideration of the tax reduction bill was jolted Monday as opponents launched attacks on several provisions.

At the conclusion of a session devoted entirely to debate, during which less than twenty-five members were on the floor most of the time, a proposal to meet an hour earlier today was blocked by Senators Couzens of Michigan, and Norris of Nebraska, republicans.

Reiterating that he desired to discuss freely some items of the bill, Senator Norris warned leaders "you are not going to make any progress if you start the steam roller."

Chairman Smoot of the finance committee, in charge of the bill, then declared he would hold the senate in session today until 6 o'clock. Senator Simmons of North Carolina, ranking democrat on the committee, asserted if tax reduction by March 15 was to be assured, consideration of the bill must be hastened.

Center Attack on Mellon.

The assault on the bill Monday twice centered on Secretary Mellon. Senator Norris charged that banking firms in which the secretary had been interested were allowed liberties under the consolidation provisions of the law, despite contrary findings by a treasury investigator.

Senator Couzens, who engaged in a dispute two years ago with Mr. Mellon on whether high surtaxes drove capital into tax exempt securities, told the senate that figures collected by the special committee which investigated the internal revenue bureau under his chairmanship definitely "dispel the fallacy of that argument."

Urging repeal of the provision allowing consolidated returns by affiliated corporations, Senator Couzens declared it permitted injustices. It had been used, he said, by owners of the Philadelphia Public Ledger and of the Saturday Evening Post to offset the profits of the latter by the "losses" of the former.

Reading from the report of the Couzens committee, Senator Norris said it showed that four Pittsburgh banking firms, in which Secretary Mellon was interested, had filed consolidated returns, although one treasury investigator had ruled it was not legal.

The staff of news editors (copy readers and head-line writers) the board changed considerably to give other journalism students the practical training. The appointees are J. A. Circulation managers reappointed are Fred T. Vette, '27, Omaha, and Nieland B. Van Arsdale, '28, Omaha.

3 WOMEN CLAIM CLARK HEIRSHIP

Petition to Set Aside Former Senator's Will Field at Butte, Mont.

Claimants Say Are Daughters by Former Marriage In Missouri in 1869.

BUTTE, Mont., Feb. 2. — (By the Associated Press). — A petition signed by three women who allege they are legitimate daughters of the late W. A. Clark, former United States senator, and who seek to have set aside the court order which recently admitted Clark's will to probate, has been filed in District court here. The petitioners, who are named as Alma E. Clark [illegible] Effie Clark McWilliams, and Addie L. Clark Miller, say they were left out of the will unintentionally.

Attorneys for the estate say they do not know them. The petition was filed by John A. Shelton, Butte attorney, and Edward C. Hyde of Kansas City.

Shelton said the three women, who live in or around Kansas City, are daughters of a woman said to have married the late senator in Missouri in 1869, and who died several years ago.

Clark died in New York March 2, 1925, leaving an estate valued at about $50,000,000. Under his will the estate was distributed to his widow, Mrs. Anna E. Clark, two sons and three daughters, and among various charities, fraternal organizations, friends and distant relatives. The three women seeking revocation of the will were not named.

Collection Not Accepted.

The will gave the widow $2,500,000 outright. An art collection in Clark's home, valued at $3,000,000 was left to the Metropolitan Art museum. Under the terms of the will the museum did not accept the exhibit and it was given to the Corcoran museum in Washington, D. C.

The claim of the trio is at variance with the account of Clarke's marital relations contained in Who's Who in America.

Here the copper king is listed as having married Kate L. Stauffer of Connellsville, Pa., in 1869. In 1901 —eight years after the death of his first wife—he married Miss Anna E. Lachapelle of Butte, Mont. Of the first union were born W. A. Clark, jr., of Los Angeles, Cal.; Mrs. Marjus De Brabant of Los Angeles; C. E. Clark of Jerome, Ariz., and Mrs. L. R. Morris of White Plains, N. Y. Hugette Clark of Santa Barbara, Cal., was the only child of his second marriage.

Who's Who lists Clark as having taught school in Missouri in 1859-1860 and traces him from there to Colorado in 1862 and to Montana the following year.

MOVE FOR NEW INVESTIGATIONS

Both Senate and House Stirred By Claims Of Food Products "Combine."

Resolutions For Sweeping Inquiries; Renomination Of Hunt Delayed.

WASHINTON, Feb. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Moves looking to broad investigations of commissions and trusts were made Monday in both the senate and house as a result of the announcement of the formation of a huge Ward Food Products corporation to deal in bread and ancillary products.

Asking for action by the judiciary committee on his resolution proposing a sweeping inquiry, Senator King, democrat, Utah, assailed President Coolidge and the investigating agencies of the administration in a vigorous speech in the senate.

The senator declared that while combinations which must destroy the economic and industrial life of the country are being created, "the department of justice is sleeping," the federal trade commission is "impotent," and President Coolidge "has pronounced his benediction."

Another result of the Ward announcement was to delay senate action on the renomination of Charles W Hunt of Iowa, as a member of the federal trade commission At the request of Senator King the nomination went over until two days after the vote on the tax bill.

Commissioner Hunt is one of the three constituting what Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, and other senators have described as the "reactionary" majority on the commission.

A number of senators, republicans as well as democrats, are opposing his confirmation. He is now serving under a recess reappointment made last September.

While senate discussion of the Ward corporation was in progress Representative LaGuardia, socialist, New York, offered a resolution in the house calling upon the attorney general and federal trade commission to furnish information regarding bread and flour trusts. A report of any findings in regard to investigations authorized under a senate resolution of 1924, would be ordered, with special reference to the Ward Food Products corporation.

Under authority of the senate resolution, the trade commission has been conducting a broad investigation into the bread industry for a number of months Members of the commission said they had no detailed information regarding the newly organized company, but indicated that any inquiry into the subject would be consolidated with the present investigation.

There was no announcement from the justice department concerning the Ward organization.

"JOKERS FAKED" FOREIGN STATIONS

Find Radio Broadcasters In U. S. Tricked Public During Test Week.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2—(By the Associated Press)—Radio fakers in all parts of the United States, who announced themselves as broadcasting stations from Australia to Russia, had the time of their lives at the expense of the listening fans during the third international broadcasting test last week.

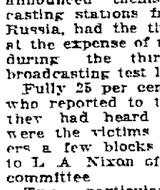

Fully 25 per cent of the persons who reported to test officials that they had heard distant stations were the victims of practical jokers a few blocks away, according to L A Nixon of the Radio week committee

Two particularly successfull hoaxes were perpetrated on innocent listeners At Omaha, Neb., on one night, fifty persons reported hearing Cardiff, Wales and Aberdeen, Scotland, two stations scheduled to take part in the tests.

The number of reports aroused suspicion, especially as points farther east had not heard the stations It was finally decided that a joker had been at work when it was found that the wave length on which the announcements and music had been heard were not those of the two stations

Another person announcing himself as at Lyons, France, was heard as far as Bermuda. But he overlooked one important point—Lyons did not broadcast in the test These two were the most elaborate of the scores of attempts to hoodwink the fans. Most of the other fakers were immediately exposed by the fact that they were heard only by a small number of listeners living close together in the same localities.

For Head Colds

THERE are many ways to treat a cold in the head, but only one DIRECT way, and that is with vapors that can be inhaled.

The easiest and most satisfying way to get these vapors is to snuff a little Vicks VapoRub well up the nose, or melt a little in a spoon or tin cup and inhale.

The medicated vapors reach immediately into every corner of the air passages, soothing and healing with every breath.

For other forms of cold troubles just rub Vicks over the throat and chest at bedtime. It is then the body heat which releases these vapors.

Inductive Method Study Advocated By Dr. Cutshall

Dr. E. G. Cutshall, president of the Iliff School of Theology at Denver, addressed the students of Nebraska Wesleyan at 10 o'clock Monday morning on "The New World."

The speaker informed his audience that this new world would be formed when the inductive method of study had been universally adopted. The inductive method of reasoning was first used by Bacon, he said, who just began to realize the possibilities of the method.

"The inductive method," the speaker continuer," is the main instrument for creativeness in the modern world, but we have been afraid to apply it where it is most needed. We haven't applied it much to economics, science, and religion, but we are on our way. The greatest need for its application today is in the realm of human relationships."

IMPRISONMENT OF FORBES HELD UP

Given Five Days In Which To Place Case Before U. S. High Court.

CHICAGO, Feb 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—Col Charles R. Forbes, former veterans bureau head and John W. Thompson, St. Louis contractor, have until the last of the week to place their case before the supreme court by the terms of a supersedes to stay the mandate of imprisonment which would send them to the penitentiary for two years.

Their counsel plan to get the proposed petition for a writ of supersedes and certiorari before the supreme court in two days. The writ of supersedeas to stay the mandate was granted by the United States circuit court of appeals yesterday with the provision that the case go to the supreme court in five days.

The mandate of imprisonment would have been effective at 10 o'clock today.

Doheny Loses Oil Case Appeal, Goes To Supreme Court

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Edward L. Doheny, oil magnate, Monday lost his fight in the United States Circuit Court of Appeals to prevent cancellation of the Doheny leases in the naval oil reserves in California.

A petition seeking reversal of the court's recent decision in the case was overruled Counsel for Doheny was given stay of execution to enable him to prepare an appeal to the United States Supreme court.

The California decision stripped the oil magnate of all his rights to naval oil lands in California under the leases and also cancelled some $11,000,000 in allowances granted by the trial court for work done at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and in the California fields under the leases

COUNCIL FAVORS LARGER PROJECT

Water System Would cost $150,000 For New Territory East of City.

At least $150,000 will be required to complete a new water project contemplated by the city council it was revealed Monday following a conference between the commissioner, the city engineer and the city attorney. The territory involved would include about 640 acres of land adjoining the city limits on the east.

Plans for extending the limits to include the new territory and building the necessary water mains were explained by the city engineer. They were the result of a study made following application by the board of education. Tabitha Home and a large number of residents in the district to be taken into the city. Their positions were supplemented by those of others within the city limits but not now served with either water or sewers

Mr. Ericson explained two projects. One was for a main in a northeasterly direction to Forty-eighth and O streets, to serve about 160 acres of new territory The other was on a larger scale and, besides providing for the angling main, calls for extending it from Forty-eighth and Washington streets east to include Fifty-fifth street. From there it would extend north and south to O and South streets.

The first project would cost $100,000, the engineer estimated, the second, $150,000 at least, he said

The council favored the larger project.

Extension of the system under either proposal, according to the engineer, will necessitate additional equipment at the main plant, as a booster pump will be needed to force water from the station to the highest point at Forty-eighth and O streets.

Building of the main would require a new 16-inch pipe from the plant to Forty-eighth street on A, Mr. Ericson stated, pointing out some of the problems connected with the distribution of assessments. At least $7,000 of this will be cared for by the water department.

Building the project will permit the early development of a forty-acre tract bounded by A and D and Thirty-seventh and Fortieth streets, and a larger plot north of A street and west of Fifty-sixth street, maps used by the city engineer showed.

City Attorney Peterson said the city would be entirely within its rights to extend the boundaries to include the territory if it sees fit, and added that protests and injunction actions would be of no avail.

Alabama Senator "Takes the Floor" As Chair Smashes

WASHINGTON, Feb. 2 — (AP) — Senator Heflin of Alabama, took the floor in the midst of Monday's tax debate in the senate "but not in the usual or parliamentary sense at all"

He took it actually, for the chair in which he was sitting suddenly collapsed and left him sitting on the rug

It happened so suddenly and noiselessly that only one or two of his colleagues, seated near him in the rear of the chamber, knew of it.

A democratic speech by Senator King of Utah, was in progress at the time and the big Aalabaman remarked that at least the republicans couldn't claim credit for bowling him over.

TWO SENTENCED FOR CAR THEFT

Lindholm and Jones Given Prison Terms When They Plead Guilty.

Sentences of five and two years respectively were passed on two youths who appeared before Judge Wheeler Monday afternoon and pleaded guilty to charges of auto theft.

Carl Lindholm is to spend the longer term in the penitentiary and John Jones his companion is to serve two years in the reformatory. Pleas by attorneys and friends that Jones should be given a suspended sentence were unavailing.

Police arrested Lindholm and Jones last week when they entered town with a stolen car filled with stolen goods. They confessed robbing stores at Burchard, Fairmont and Daykin and the theft of several autos.

Suspect Released; Not Identified As Sorority Prowler

Mary Gooden, University Place sorority visitor who was struck over the head early Monday morning by a prowler in the Oro sorority house, 320 West Seventeenth street, University Place, failed to identify a suspect who had been held at the Lincoln police station Monday.

The man was released.

Miss Gooden was struck by a man when she screamed on discovering him in her room.

After striking the girl the man fled. Members of the sorority thought they saw him jump into a car and drive westward. Lincoln police, notified immediately, found a man in a coupe which was stalled on a street car trestle.

Captain of Detectives Walter Anderson released the man because Miss Gooden's only cause for identifying the man as her assailant was his black eyes.

PITTMAN TALKS TO EDUCATORS

Michigan Man Gives Address At Banquet of County Superintendents.

M. S. Pittman, of Ypsilanti, Mich., director of rural education, spoke Monday evening at the annual county superintendents' banquet, held in the Venetian room of the Lincoln hotel.

"The Coming of the Millenium" was the subject of Mr. Pittman's address, and after a humorous introduction he declared that the millineum for the teaching profession would arrive when those of us who are intrusted with leadership learn to capitalize the ability of others and promote team work in the accomplishment of desirable social aims."

Six things must be done before this can come about he said.

"The leaders must see the goal—must know what social aims are desirable. They must be willing to have their services unrewarded and unknown in order that these ends may be accomplished. They must recognize the agencies through which these social aims may be obtained and children must have standards by which they can judge their own conduct and achievements. Parents must recognize that all of a child's activities go to make up his education, and the abilities of all must be used to promote the educational programs."

Emma R. Miller, of West Point, for twenty years county superintendent there, responded to the toast "My Bequest." She will not be a candidate for office next fall and spoke of the work that has been done in Nebraska toward a definite constructive educational program.

W. T. Poucher, of Tekamah, spoke briefly on "Coming Elections," mostly in a humorous vein.

Vocal solos by Mrs. M. C. Lefler and Leota Combs, and a short skit by the University Players, provided the entertainment for the evening. More than 100 were present.

Today

Edsel B. and John D., Jr., Men Hate to Think. Extra! Pitchers Use Resin. Yes, We Are Conservative.

By Arthur Brisbane.

Encouraging information. Edsel B. Ford, son of the original Henry, and John D. Rockefeller, jr., son of the original John D., are interested in sending Richard E. Byrd on a flight to the Arctic—each contributed cash.

This particular flight is interesting and important. But definitely more important is the hope that these sons of the two richest men on earth, will become jointly interested in aircraft promotion in the United States.

Neither of these young men needs money. But both, being normal Americans, want a record of public service and the glory that goes with it.

They possess knowledge of building, financial power, intelligence and ambition, everything necessary to put this nation as overwhelmingly in the lead in the air as it is now on the ground.

Poultney Bigelow asks, "Who is H. G. Wells?" The answer is: H. G. Wells is a man who has made millions of other men think along new lines, thus annoying many of the millions. Men hate thinking as much as a dog hates to walk on its hind legs—for any length of time.

What is the most important to at least 20,000,000 Americans, old and young, in the news of today? It does not concern the World Court, League of Nations, coal strike, or the latest advice on "how to make your first million." The real news is this: The joint baseball rules committee approves the use of resin by pitchers.

Hereafter pitchers may smear resin, pronounced by fans "rosin," on their hands, and thus increase "control." They must not smear the resin on the ball.

That's bad news for Babe Ruth and the other batters.

As hitherto predicted, mine owners will probably win the coal strike, although the victory may be camouflaged as "a compromise."

The workers made a mistake in their absolute rejection of arbitration.

Public opinion would condemn the mine owners if they flatly refused arbitration in a matter of starvation for workmen's families. Public opinion condemns workers when they reject arbitration in a matter that involves freezing of the public.

When this period of ultra-conservatism has passed, America will discover, as England has done, that if workers and owners cannot agree in matters involving a public necessity, the people will have to take the decision away from them and settle it for themselves.

You realize how conservative this nation has become when you hear that Judge Wallace McCamant, nominated by President Coolidge for the Ninth judicial district, declared that Theodore Roosevelt can not be considered "a good American" because he advocated the recall of judicial decisions.

Any man, judge or jailer, who believes that the people of the United States have not the right to do whatever they chose to do, legally, through the ballot box, or constitutional amendment, has traveled a long way from 1776.

Hiram Johnson opposes Judge McCamant's confirmation because of the judge's opinion of Theodore Roosevelt. Roosevelt is dead, and what one man thinks of another isn't very important. But the opinion is enlightening.

Solomon Levitan, able financier, and state treasurer of Wisconsin, broadcasts the information that the farmers of his state "prefer help to advice." If all the advice they got had a cash value, the farmers' income tax would pay the national debt, says Mr. Levitan.

Every farmer gets 90 kinds of advice, including the advice to "stand on his own feet, like an independent American," from some of our distinguished financiers.

What he would like to get from the government is a little of the co-operation that goes, for instance, to the railroads.

An aged Serbian nobleman, ambassador to London, marries a second British wife at the age of 82. He says: "I have lived long because I married very young a good woman who took great care of me."

It would be a good thing for "good women" if it didn't take so many men 83 years to realize what they owe their wives. Most husbands die without ever realizing it.

A postoffice airplane left Chicago on Friday night, delivered the mail in New York seven hours later, average speed 134 miles an hour for the 726 miles as the crow flies. That seems fast now. In a few years it will seem a snail's pace.

The other day a party of men, including a busy broker and one real estater, left Florida in the morning, dined in New York in the evening.

Within 10 years men will leave Chicago after the stock exchange closes on Saturday to dine in San Diego, Los Angeles or San Francisco that evening.

Learn to fly.

Ice In New York Causes 2 Deaths In Many Mishaps

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Two women in New York City lost their lives yesterday and a score of others were injured in accidents caused by sleet covered streets and icy pavements. Surface car and elevated train service was subjected to frequent interruption, vehicular traffic was demoralized and pedestrians slipped through traffic jams.

Similar conditions prevailed throughout New York state and southern New England. A chilling northeast wind, accompanied by a sharp drop in temperature Sunday night transformed an area which previously was sodden with rain into one of ice and sleet.

Property damage, however, was small and wire communication was not interrupted. The temperature hovered around the freezing point.

VETERANS MEET TO URGE BONUS

Representatives From Thirty-five Towns Gather At Kearney.

(Special to The Star.)

KEARNEY, Neb., Feb. 2.—Out of seventy town represented in invitations issued by the Kearney post of the Veterans of Foreign Wars for a caucus of veterans here Wednesday to duscuss a state bonus, more than thirty-five town will be represented, according to acceptances received so far.

North Platte, Grand Island, Minden, Gibbon, Shelton, Hastings, Elwood, Roseland, Schuyler, Fremont, St. Paul Albion and other intermediate points are among those listed for representatives who have already replied to the invitations. One man will come from far off the beaten track in Keya Paha county, near the South Dakota border, and another acceptance has been received as far west as Alliance.

About three hundred veterans of the World War and the Spanish War and members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars are expected to foregather here Wednesday night for the purpose of reviewing the soldiers' bonus agitation which fainted away after its last setback in the state legislature. The present program calls for revival of a a crusade for adjusted compensation, and a canvass of candidates for public office who will be asked to say aye or nay on the question before election time.

Enough steam to propel the bonus question up to, if not through the next legislature, is the big order of business before the veterans' caucus.

"If the people want us to have a bonus, all right. If they don't, all right. But we want to see just what they do want," explained "Bill" Atkinson, present local secretary and former state commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars.

Sure Way to Get Rid of Dandruff

Girls—if you want plenty of thick, beautiful, glossy, silky hair, do by all means get rid of dandruff, for it will starve your hair and ruin it if you don't.

It doesn't do much good to try to comb or wash it out. The only sure way to get rid of dandruff is to dissolve it; then you destroy it entirely. To do this, get about four ounces of ordinary liquid arvon; apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most, if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and two or three more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single sign and trace of it.

You will find, too, that all itching and digging of the scalp will stop, and your hair will look and feel a hundred times better. You can get liquid arvon at any drug store. Four ounces is all you will need, no matter how much dandruff you may have. This simple remedy never fails.

The New Bill at the Liberty is a Frolic of Fun and Music.

A large and apprecive audience enjoyed the program presented at the Liberty Monday. The laughs start with Bostus & Brown the opening number and never stop until the finish of the closing offering presented by Gus Thalero and his Mad Gang. The headline attraction "Bungle-Love" is a miniature musical combedy presented by a sextette of talented performers. The plot is laughably and interesting and mingled with tuneful numbers; Arthur Green & Anna Lafell are delightfully different lyric and melody specialists; Helene Hamilton & Jack Barnes certainly know how to convulse their audience with laughter. The mystery is still unsolved in the ninth chapter of "The Green Archer." It is a good show.

Asks Husband Be Cited For Contempt

Mrs. Bessie Winsor is asking the Nebraska Supreme court to send her husband, Frank, to jail because of his alleged failure to pay her $50 a month temporary alimony as directed by that tribunal, while her appeal from the Lancaster county District court judgment refusing her a decree of divorce is pending. A motion was filed Tuesday by her attorney, J. C. McReynolds, asking that the defendant be cited for contempt of court.

Winsor claims he is unable to pay as much as $50 a month to his wife. He has been giving her an average of about $20 a month out of his earnings, and says that is all he can spare.

No action has yet been taken by the Supreme court on Mrs. Winsor's motion.

"Handsome Young Men" Distraction For Mary Garden

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Mary Garden, Chicago opera prima donna, who recently returned from her sun baths at Montecarlo "thrilled" by radio, has discovered that a microphone can be a mighty lonesome place when there are handsome young men around.

She sang last night for an invisible audience, but found that her attention was distracted more than once from the isolated microphone to the personable young men in her visible audience More than once she wandered from the "Mike" and then ran back apologetically.

When she arrived from Europe in December she said "the radio gives me a greater thrill than any man I ever met."

Last night she said: "I just love the radio, but I'd rather sing over it from a studio when I can concentrate. I simply forget all about i twhen there are so many handsome young men in the audience, because I love the young men too."

Miss Garden sang at the annual dinner of the Fred H. French Co. at the Biltmore hotel through WJZ. Her songs included an aria from the opera "Louise," "Love is Like a Wild Bird," from Carmen, and selections by Cadman and Tosti.

SUBMIT BIDS ON HIGHWAY SIGNS

Cost of Metallic Markers For Nebraska Roads Not To Exceed $35,000.

Ten Propositions Received Tuesday Range From $19,079 to $83,665.

Total cost of 41,181 metallic road signs, 35,440 posts, and 35,000 bolts to be used in marking 6,000 miles of state highways in Nebraska will probably not exceed $35,000, depending on the types to be selected from bids submitted Tuesday morning to State Purchasing Agent Pirie, Finance Secretary Dalbey, and Chief Noble of the state bureau of roads and bridges, acting for State Engineer Cochran.

Ten propositions were received on the markers, ranging from $19,079 up to $83,665. The low bid came from the Auto Sign Display Co., St. Louis. Matthey Thimgan of Murdock, Neb., was about $1,300 higher. Quality and weight of steel, embossed work, painting, and other details will all be considered in connection with the bids. The contract will not necessarily go to one making the lowest figure.

There was also a wide range in the prices quoted on posts, as well as in the types and weight of different sample submitted by the competing firms. The Calumet Steel Co., Chicago, was below all others at $8,569. From that the bids ranged up to $23,063 by the McGrew Machine Co. of Lincoln. An offer to supply wooden posts of specified sizes for $11,802 was made by the Corn Belt Lumber Co. of Lincoln. It is not likely, however, that anything but steel posts with anchors to hold them straight in the ground will be bought.

Bolts are a minor item. The Atlas in a bid of $194 for these, which Bolt & Screw Co. of Cleveland put was $500 below the Rudge & Guenzel Co., Lincoln and $27 under a Chicago firm.

Action Deferred.

Action on warding contracts was deferred until afternoon, while the bids were being tabulated in the state engineer's office. Most of the bids on markers were itemized in accordance with the specifications. This makes it possible to split them up and award different items to different firms.

Bidders had been invited to submit designs for the covered wagon marker which will be placed on all state highways with their respective number designations on each. Not all of them did so. Eight or ten designs were furnished, and the state engineer's office has several more prepared by its own men. The exact design has not yet been chosen.

Following are the bids opened Tuesday morning, with the exception of two or three which were not complete:

Markers.
Federal Electric Co., Chicago	$83,665
Union Iron Products Co., E. Chicago, Ind.	38,387
Western Display & Mfg. Co., St Paul	43,588
S. G. Adams Stamp & Stationery Co., St Louis	32,382

Trial Starts In Property Owner's Suit Against City

Amanda M. Austin's 5,000 damage suit against the city of Lincoln went on trial Tuesday morning before a jury in Judge Fred Shepherds court.

The plaintiff contends that her property at Seventeenth and Q streets was damaged by grading operations carried out by the city between November 10 and December 3, 1923.

She says Q street was cut down from 3 to 6 feet, leaving a steep bank along the north edge of her lot. Nine large shade trees on the terrace were removed, she claims, and two trees on her own property were so cut and hacked that they died and the approach to the house by foot was made difficult and by auto or wagon almost impossible.

The city contends that it has a right to grade the streets because it owns the property, and that the Austin premises were not damaged as claimed.

Ma Ferguson Sues For Libel of Her Dry Law Program

BELTON, Tex., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Atticus Webb of Dallas, state superintendent of the Anti-saloon league, and the American Publishing Co. of Austin, are named as defendants in a $100,000 libel suit filed in District court here by Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson and her husband, former Gov. James E. Ferguson.

The petition filed yesterday, alleges that the Austin American-Statesman last December published an interview represented as coming from Mr. Webb which criticised the prohibition enforcement policy of the governor in a manner reflecting upon the character and reputation of the plaintiffs.

Beautiful Hair This Way

Hair that lies in fluffy softness about the face and neck; hair that is lustrous and lovely, seeming much more abundant than it really is—This is the way which actresses and famous beauties have found. And it is a way you, too, can find by simply getting a package of Canthrox from your druggist.

This shampoo can be given with very little effort, and at trifling cost. Dissolve a teaspoonful in a cup of hot water. This makes enough to go all over the hair instead of just on the top. Be sure that every strand is given the benefit of this daintily perfumed, delightful preparation. It removes every bit of excess oil and dirt, and by keeping the scalp healthy, you avoid dandruff.

One shampoo costs only three cents and you will never know really healthy and beautiful hair until you use it.—Advertisement.

"Get" Colds Quick!
—Don't Wait For Chills

WHEN you feel a cold beginning, take hot lemonade. Then go straight to bed, under warm covers.

You'll perspire, but in nine cases out of ten the cold will go.

In the morning there won't be a trace.

Thus, over night, you'll save days of sickness and their cost together with the dangers of pneumonia, "flu" and other ills that often follow colds.

Millions profit in untold ways by this measure of prevention.

But they "get" the colds before the colds "get them."

If you are sneezing, if you ache, take hot lemonade tonight, and cheat the cold. It's the cheapest, simplest, surest, safest way.

Just squeeze the juice of a lemon in glass or cup of hot water. The effectiveness of hot lemonade is due to more than its heat. Add sugar if you wish.

Ask for California lemons, the tart, juicy, practically seedless kind. They make the most effective lemonade for colds.

SEARCH ON FOR LOST PAINTINGS

Part of Eakins Exhibit Worth $8,375 Believed Stolen at Omaha.

OMAHA, Feb. 2.—(AP)—Five oil paintings by Thomas Eakins, valued at $8,375, disappeared from a loading dock at the Omaha fine arts society gallery building while awaiting an expressman to convey them to the depot to be sent to Kansas City. The paintings disappeared yesterday but police were not told until today.

The pictures were making a circuit of galleries in Kansas City, Buffalo, Denver and Omaha.

Maurice Block, director of the society, said he believed they were taken by mistake, but a check of express offices failed to locate them. They were not delivered at any depot.

The paintings were large and had to be crated out of doors. The most valuable was "The Black Fan," worth $3,125. he remainder of the exhibition, in two smaller crates was safely removed by van company employes.

Permission to attend the meeting of department of superintendents of the N. E. A. was granted Superintendent Tyler. The meeting is Feb. 23-25 at Washington, D. C.

Scopes' Successor Breaks With Board Education; Resigns

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Feb. 2.—(AP)—Raleigh Reece, who succeeded John Thomas Scopes as science teacher in Rhea county high school when Scopes violated the state anti-evolution teaching law, has resigned his position.

No explanation of his action could be obtained yesterday, although it was said to have resulted from a difference with the school board over an entertainment at the school.

SACRAMENTO, Cal.—(AP)—Grove L. Johnson, father of United States Senator Hiram W. Johnson, died at his home here yesterday at the age of 83 years. Mr. Johnson served one term in congress and several terms as a member of the California legislature. He was mayor of Sacramento at one time. An illness of several years, complicated by heart trouble, caused death.

TOO MUCH TAX REDUCTION.

Senator Smoot, press dispatches indicate, is confident the amended tax bill agreed upon in the senate finance committee, will receive the approval of both branches of congress and become law.

Nothing has come to public attention to justify this confidence. On the contrary the attitude of Chairman Green of the House committee on ways and means gives rise to the belief additional changes will be made in the tax measure before it goes to President Coolidge for signing. These changes will result in restoration of the federal inheritance tax, which is repealed in the senate bill.

Congressman Green has had all of the better of the argument that the senate bill cuts too deeply and may seriously embarrass the government with a huge deficit in the event it becomes law. Senator Smoot had insisted the total amount of reductions in the senate bill aggregated $352,000,000, only $22,000,000 in excess of that contemplated in the house measure. Mr. Green has most effectively challenged the authenticity of Senator Smoot's figures. The chairman of the house committee has seemingly gathered convincing proof that the senate bill calls for a total reduction of $467,000,000, or more than $100,000,000 beyond the borderline of safety indicated by treasury officials. In the new provisions of the repeal of the federal inheritance tax and the capital-stock tax, there is a reduction of governmental revenues of more than $115,000,000 indicated in the Smoot figures.

Senator Smoot's computations are erroneous in that he failed to recognize some of the reductions will have little effect upon revenue until 1927. He estimated the loss of revenue from the repeal of the federal inheritance tax at $20,000,000 whereas the treasury figures show a shrinkage of $110,000,000 may logically be expected in 1927. This latter figure is supported by the experience of the government over a term of years. The discrepancy resulted because Senator Smoot did not allow for the repeal of the bill in his estimates but merely computed the lower rates.

Still another aspect of the tax reduction program seems to have escaped Senator's Smoot's attention. Business and industry was operating at the peak in 1924 and 1925. The year which closed a few weeks ago was the greatest in industrial activity which this country has ever known. Naturally this prosperous condition has made itself felt in heavier tax receipts. But any slackening of business or industry will automatically result in decreased tax receipts whether or not the government reduces rates. Manifestly it is unwise and unsound to accept the maximum receipts of the last two years as the basis for computing tax reduction. There should be a very small surplus left to provide a margin of safety.

The west has an acute interest in this controversy between the chairmen of the House and Senate committees, because this section of the country is unalterably opposed to the repeal of the federal inheritance tax. Unless congress is willing to assume responsibility for a deficit in governmental revenues, it will be impossible to repeal the federal inheritance tax.

MISSOURI'S GAME RECORD.

Missouri, notoriously lax in other days in the enforcement of game laws, seems to have set a mark in efficiency in 1925 which will give other states something to shoot at. The game and fish commission reports a total of 1,533 fines for the year, with 1,744 arrests and only 111 acquittals. Seventy cases are still pending.

The Missouri record is impressive in another particular.

One defendant in that state was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary for dynamiting fish in a stream in Wayne county. It is the first instance on record in Missouri of prison punishment for a violator of the game laws.

Increased vigilance in the enforcement of the game laws in Missouri may be directly attributable to the rapidly disappearing wild life in that state. Even in the Ozarks, famed for a quarter of a century as the ideal hunting ground for wild turkey, quail and numerous other equally delectable birds, game was becoming scarce. The hunters tramped far and wide with indifferent results because others before them had been indiscriminatly slaughtering game. For the last three years, now, Missouri has been paying more attention to the enforcement of the game laws. In the hunting season last fall, a very noticeable improvement was reported. Game was more plentiful than it has been in the last ten years.

Something will have to be done in Nebraska if the prairie chicken and the grouse is to be saved from extermination. They are the last reminders of the old frontier, but they are disappearing most rapidly before the onslaught of the greatest army of hunters which has ever visited the range country of Nebraska. There were more hunters from the eastern and central counties of Nebraska tramping the sandhills last October than ever before. There were numerous parties of hunters from Kansas, Iowa and other states. Because the automobile has made the hill country accessible to a much larger number of hunters than ever before, it will not be another ten years until the prairie chicken and the grouse have been exterminated unless official action is taken. A still shorter season, or possibly a ban on all shooting for the next two years, would be most beneficial.

SUBSIDIZING INDUSTRY.

All of the various schemes of "farm relief" based on the idea of a government-endowed corporation to take charge of surplus products and market them abroad have as their object the raising of prices to domestic consumers. It is not the foreigner who will pay the bill, but the American people—provided the plan works as it is intended to. And, as farmers themselves are consumers of each other's products, they will have to pay their share.

Suppose, for the sake of argument, that the government export corporation were efficient enough to dispose of the surplus corn crop abroad in such a way as to raise the price in this country 25 cents a bushel. This would compel live stock feeders to pay just so much more for the grain to feed their animals, and their profits would be correspondingly curtailed. Dairying and poultry raising would become more costly, and unless prices of milk, butter, eggs and dressed fowls could be forced upward the people engaged in producing them would lose.

If cotton were boosted $5 a bale through the activities of the export corporation, every farmer in the north would be the victim of a forced contribution to the southern plantation owners. This would be a material item, including clothes for all members of the family, bedding, dry goods, and numerous other articles. Similar contributions would have to be made to the wool growers, the beet and cane sugar producers, fruit growers, and every other variety of agricultural industry.

By the time farmers got through paying each other's extra profit, swelled by the charges of middlemen, they would not be very much ahead of the game, even with the higher prices they were getting for their respective products.

There are other phases of the question, too, which show the supposed advantages of the scheme to be illusory. In the first place, another huge bureaucratic organization would be set up at Washington to spend hundreds of millions of dollars of the people's money. The talk about having the export corporation "financed by the farmers themselves" is all poppycock. An initial appropriation of $200,000,000 is proposed in one of the principal "relief" bills now pending before congress. Does any sane person suppose that this money would not be spent, or that it would ever come back to the federal treasury after it was spent? The strong probability is that, after the corporation got to going, it would have to be supported by further annual appropriations, just as the United States shipping board is; and the burden, of course, would fall upon the whole body of taxpayers.

If the cost of living were forced up to a higher plane, there would be a demand from labor in all industries for higher wages. Employers would be compelled to meet these demands in some measure, and prices of manufactured goods would go up accordingly. Banks and other loan agencies would have to charge higher interest rates to come out even. Thus, the added expense would be thrown back upon the farmers and upon consumers generally.

If agriculture were subsidized by the government, directly or indirectly, ship owners would be justified in demanding like treatment. Then the anthracite coal mine owners would feel that they were entitled to government aid, and the railroads would be fortified in their contentions for higher rates.

What the politicians have started in the name of "farm relief" is something which, if it should go through, will eventually react upon agriculture and make it more difficult than ever for farmers to realize a profitable return on their labor and investment.

SOARING IN THE CLOUDS.

Efforts of Lieutenant John MacReady to regain the world's altitude record which he held until it was snatched from him by a Frenchman are of more sentimental interest than genuine utility.

Lieutenant MacReady's first effort last week resulted in failure although he soared several hundred feet above the mark he had previously set. He was still 1,500 feet short of the record established by the Frenchman. A second attempt will be made within the next ten days, according to announcement, when MacReady will endeavor to reach an altitude of 40,000 feet.

It will be remembered that Mount Everest, the highest mountain peak in the world, is 29,002 feet. If MacReady achieves his ambition, he will have soared to an altitude a full two miles above the loftiest mountain peak in the world.

While the effort to control the plane in the rarified atmosphere is not comparable to the tortuous efforts at mountain climbing yet the experiences of Lieutenant MacReady seem to indicate that acclimation to the lighter air is not the sole problem before those who will seek to conquer Mount Everest by climbing. Lieutenant MacReady reported last week he felt not the slightest inconvenience from cold or atmosphere at 37,000 feet, which is more than a mile above the summit of Everest. After leaving the level of 35,000 feet, the cold actually became less intense. After climbing another 2,500 feet, the thermometer had risen 7 degrees. Heretofore all Everest expeditions have endured great suffering from the cold. They have been badly frozen, their bodily vitality greatly reduced as a result, and their efforts largely handicapped. Before the climbers can solve their problem they will have to conquer the cold. The aviator does not have to worry about it because he can pack as many clothes as he wants. The climber cannot make his movements cumbersome if he hopes to achieve the last 5,000 feet of Everest.

MARRIAGE LASTS FIVE YEARS.

Denver has completed a survey of divorce conditions in the Colorado capital and arrived at the astonishing conclusion that marriage lasts but 5 years.

In point of numbers, marriage still keeps a jump ahead of divorce, the figures show. There were nearly 700 final decrees of divorce entered by the Denver courts in 1925, an increase of nearly 25 percent over the preceding year. From a study of the records it was gleaned that the average marriage did not survive the rocks longer than 5 years.

Denver's list is not particularly impressive. There are scores of cities where divorce is even more frequent. There is one phase of the Denver situation which does deserve attention. In the cases of divorce, more than 80 percent of the homes affected were childless. Less than a fifth of the couples divorced had children. The child in the home, it is again demonstrated, is the more powerful deterrent to divorce.

More Truth Than Poetry.

GENTLE JANE

Gentle Jane, a lady's maid,
Had a way of simpling brightly;
Graceful ankles she displayed
When she mounted stairways lightly.

In her large and dusky eyes
There was wonderful expression;
Youth, with all that youth implies,
Was in pretty Jane's possession.

In the street men often turned,
Glancing at her when she met them;
Jane was never much concerned,
Seeming quickly to forget them.

Meager was her weekly wage;
With her grace and with her beauty,
She might well have sought the stage,
But she stuck to humbler duty.

Jane's rich mistress had a face
That no longer was attractive;
She had lost her girlish grace,
And was stoutish and inactive.

Many times she spoke to Jane
Of the world and of its dangers,
Being careful to explain
How to snub flirtatious strangers.

Jane was pretty, she was young,
She attracted much attention,
But knew how to hold her tongue
And submit to condescension.

Hubby? No, upon my word;
Banish your suspicion, kiddo;
Nothing scandalous occurred;
Jane's employer was a widow.

A BIT OF HOMELY PHILOSOPHY.

HOW A MEAN SPIRIT AND A QUARRELSOME NATURE MAY DESTROY VALUABLE FRIENDSHIP.

You wonder why it is that almost invariably you have trouble with those with whom you have to associate for any length of time.

Often the thought comes that perhaps little quarrels are rather enjoyed by you.

When you were younger you had frequent breaks with your best girl.

Or you tired of your best beaux so fast that you could not keep tarck of them any length of time.

Indeed you get so tired of a routine that upheaval seems preferable.

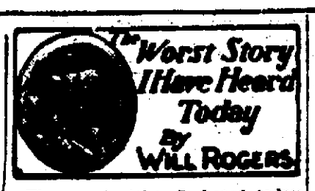

Discussions over trivial matters often result with you in anger that you take no pains to conceal.

After the disturbance is over, you feel ashamed and sorry. You may harbor no ill feelings yourself but the one you have offended does not take it so lightly.

You have no ill-will in your heart, why should others have?

Yet you rather enjoyed the excitement of nagging and ragging and teasing till it hits fire and starts a quarrel.

A rumpus was your pleasure, but a scar was left on the heart of a friend.

The worst joke I heard today was told to me by Charley Walker, of Naco, Ariz. This Charley Walker and I used to go to school together at Vinita, Indian territory, at old Willie Halsell institute. It finally broke up after tryng to learn Charley and me something. Charley was just about the funniest and brightest boy in the school or in any school. He afterwards punched cows for years for Halsell's outfit in Oklahoma, and when they bought the old Camp Supply reservation from the government, which by the way was the pretiest place I ever saw for a ranch, I went through there as a kid with a trail herd going from Higgins, Tex., to Medicine Lodge, Kas., and we passed through there and camped one night. That was in '98. It is where Wolf Creek and Beaver run together and form the North Canadian. It was a cow and calf herd, and all Frank Ewing of Higgins made me do was carry calves. Charley also went with Ewing Halsell and his father when they bought a big part of the old XIT outfit, out on the plain. I hadn't heard from Charley in a long time till I got a Christmas announcement from him the other day telling me of the arrival of a baby boy that he had named "Rabbit." That was my old Vinita nickname. Said he had four of them. I am too late to congratulate him on this one, so will just wait till next Christmas and try to be on time.

Charley sent me a story that happened to him. Arizona has quite a boom and lots of the towns and country have built up a lot in the last few years. An automobile traveler was talking to an old native there and asked him, "I suppose in even these isolated parts the bare necessities of life have arisen in price in the last few years?"

"Yes sir, you are right, mister," replied the old timer. "And it ain't worth drinking when you get it."

Here and There

Self Reliant Agriculture.

(St. Joe News-Press.)

When the farmers' co-operative marketing associations, in session at Washington, declared against legislation of any kind dealing with the subject of surplus crops they sounded a sturdy note, reflecting confidence in agriculture to solve its own problems. Incidentally, it is a rebuke to the army of politicians who belittle the intelligence of the farmer by insisting that his prosperity is dependent upon their support.

That the problem of surplus crop is serious cannot be denied. Two years ago it threatened prosperity throughout the wheat belt of the northwest, and now it harnesses the corn farmers of Iowa and neighboring states. Left to his own devices, with such help as he can get through his organizations, the intelligent farmer now studies to avoid surpluses, and usually he succeeds. But if the government steps in and shoulders the responsibility—if the government undertakes to make surpluses profitable—all incentive on the part of the individual to avoid surpluses would be lost, and there would be a marked tendency in agriculture to follow the line of least resistance, to produce the products that could be produced with the least outlay of capital and labor, and let the government worry about such details as profit and loss.

True, the farmer needs legislation the same as labor, finance and industry, but in all these fields the legislation should take the form of enabling acts. It should clear the way and remove obstacles to individual initiative. The farmers' co-operatives were eminently right when they took the position that real prosperity is secured through self-help and not through governmental help.

In the northwest tier of states, where modified socialism had been tried for ten years or more, there is a marked drift away from those devices which are supposed to spare the individual the necessity of thinking and acting in his own behalf. Led into the mistake by small fry politicians and idle dreamers, they are thoroughly sick of their bargain and are giving many indications of their willingness to line up with the country again and stand on their own as American citizens, doing things in the American way.

They found that wealth cannot be created out of thin air, that the mere creating of a state banking and elevator system will not fill the banks with easy money or the elevators with wheat which can be held for peak prices. Behind all wealth is labor, frugality and a basis of natural advantages. No alien socialistic theory will ever take the place of these.

If the farmers act on the advice of such of their leaders as are now in session at Washington they will go to congress only when necessary—and then when they do go they will command a hearing.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

YOU CAN GAIN.

Rule for Normal Adult Net Weight:

For five feet in height, in stocking feet, you are allowed 110 pounds; for every inch over that, you can allow yourself five and one-half pounds; for every inch under, disallow five and one-half pounds. Depending upon the heaviness of your bones and the heaviness of your muscles (well developed muscle tissue weighs more than fat tissue) you can vary 5 percent from this figure and still be normal.

Before you begin to gain, it's be sure you are underweight for normal. If you feel perfectly well, have a lot of pep and energy and ambition, you are probably not underweight, even though you are under the average as given by rules and tables. For these averages are usually taken from insurance certificates and they are made up of a great many more overweighters than underweighters. We do know that those over 40, who are some underweight for the average, are healthier and have a longer life expectancy.

I'll presume now that you are so much underweight that you are distressed by the X-Ray picture you present, that you tire easily and have no ambition nor zt for your work and pleasures.

In common with many of the Too-Too-Thins, do you think that eating has nothing to do with your condition, because you are sure you eat an awful lot? And you know you eat a lot more than some one who is normal or even overweight?

How do you know you eat a lot? Do you go by your feeling of fulness after eating? That's no standard. Hove you ever countd the calories of the food you eat? If you do, you'll probably find you are not averaging enough to supply the needs of a good-sized baby. You probably don't care for any of the foods that are high in caloric (energy) value; and even though you may be eating a lot, have you paid any attention to the balancing of your daily intake, so that you have been getting the proper amounts of protein, fat, mineral elements, vitamins and energy food?

And suppose you do eat more (or think you do, at least) than your fat friend; still you don't gain? Here's your answer. In this matter of eating, each person is a law unto himself. No two persons have exactly the same physical makeup or activities. A tall, thin man for instance, might eat twice as much as his tiny, dumpy wife, and she would continue to gain on her allowance and hubby would continue to be thin on his. In her case, th reason is that her allowance is more than she needs, and in his case, just the reverse. The bigger the frame and the greater the activities, the more fuel is needed to run the body engine, just as a big powerful automobile will use twice or three times as much gasoline to go the same distance as the little runabout.

You tell me when you eat a certain amount, you are full and you can't eat another mouthful. You can Suppose you begin at your next meal and eat several mouthfuls more than you want, and repeat this performance at every meal.

My first advice to the F. F. F.'s is to go on the three-day liquid diet, not totaling over 500 to 600 calories a day, in order to shrink their stomachs. I don't have to give this advice; you've got to do the reverse—you've got to stretch your stomach so that it will be able to care for sufficient foods for your needs without discomfort than to have the general discomfort which you may have and certainly will have if you continuously undereat. For you may or you will be suffering a degree of acidosis, auto-intoxication, and perhaps be on the borderline of scurvy and other more serious disorders.

If you will stretch your stomach, you will find that it can care for the extra food. I want you to gradually increase your calories daily until you are getting 500 to 1000 more than your maintenance diet. This may mean 2000 or more calories than you have been having.

Tomorrow I will continue with your diet needs.

Tomorrow—Finicky Eaters And Vitamins.

My dear Followers:

When sending for material which we offer you, please remember to enclose a STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED envelope bearing your full name and address. The pamphlet on reducing and gaining is the only one for which you must enclose TEN cents in stamps extra. Address your letters to me in care of this paper. Make them as brief as possible, NOT OVER 200 WORDS, and type or write them legibly with ink. Please sign your name as evidence of good faith—we will not use it in any way. Remember it is impossible for me to diagnose for you or to answer you personally. I appreciate very much the beautiful letters you send me and regret it is impossible to give you individual advice. The questions you ask will be answered in the column as soon as possible, if they are of general interest. Don't forget the STAMPED, SELF-ADDRESSED ENVELOPE if you expect me to send you the information I have offered.

Friends and Enemies in High Places

BY GARRETT P. SERVISS.
Noted Astronomer and Writer on Scientific Topics of Popular Interest.

Among the letters that I receive on the absorbing subject of astrology there are some, marked by moderation as well as sincerity, to which it seems that some reply should be made. Their authors protest that they seek only the truth. Well, so do I.

They tell me, in some cases, how they have, as they believe, been helped by astrology. But when I analyze these cases, as far as the facts are presented to me, I find that there is no evidence that the sun, moon, stars, or planets, have had anything to do with them.

One writer whose letter has just come has apparently been casting my horoscope for me—upon what data I do not know—and he discloses this much.

"It would be impossible for you to write as you do except for the fact that Mercury is a strong favorable influence in your horoscope. Jupiter also has helped you, all that Urnus would let him. You may ask, what does this signify? Listen: Are there no times when you can do more, and do it easier, than when, try as you may, it seems impossible for you to accomplish anything; when you'd give it up for a while? Well, that was when Mercury Venus and Saturn the Moon and Urnas were strong for you."

This is an example of the way in which well-known psychological elements, based on physiology, or on the variable functioning of the nervous system are utilized by astrologers for alleged tests and proof of their claims concerning planetary influence. The uncritical recipient of a "life-reading," finding that his periodical moods have been so well hit off, is easily led to honestly believe that he has had a plain demonstration, in his own person, of the truth of such vaticinations.

He actually believes that Mercury and Jupiter and Uhanus and Saturn, moving majestically in their far-way orbits, contend, through their "influences," for the guidance of men's petty moods and chances here below on the little earth!

The best antidote for that superstition is a serious study of astronomy and some accurate knowledge of what is scientifically known about the heavenly bodies, their nature, composition, distances and movements.

I am perfectly aware that the advocates of astrology claim that astronomy supports their claims by proving that all the celestial bodies do, in fact, influence one another. But what is the nature of that influence, investigated by astronomy? Principally it is gravitational action. By what resembles an attractive force the sun keeps the planets traveling around in great orbits; so the earth keeps the moon as an attendant.

The stars (other suns), are so far away that their gravitational influence upon our solar system is negligible. The sun sends us radiant energy, part of which appears as heat, part as light, part as some manifestation of electrical force.

The moon and the planets reflect back to us a portion of the solar radiation that impinges on them. The stars rrom out of the vast depths of space send us their own little rays of energy more or less closely resembling that of the sun, but almost entirely manifested in the shape of light.

Now, these forms of radiation, as well as gravitation, affect the earth as a whole, and that in a purely physical way. The influence of the sun is overwhelmingly predominant. Yet the astrologers center most attention upon the relatively insignificant planets. Is is of them, of their "favorites" among men and women, of their contending "influences," of their "beneficent" or their "malefic" characters, of their "weakness" or their "strength" that we are continually hearing.

Jupiter, we are told, may help us being "friendly," if Uranus, which is unfriendly, will "let him." Truly this is irresistibly reminiscent of that satirical and antiastrologer of antiquity, Lucian of Samosata:

Jupiter, looking down from the heavens, says to Hermes (Mercury) "Who is that man, Hermes, crying out from Attica at the foot of Mount Hymettus, that squalid, unwashed fellow in a leather jacket?" Hermes replies that it is Timon, once rich, now poor. "He must not be neglected," says Jupiter. "I still have in my nostrils the flavor of the fat thigh of bulls and goats that he used to burn for us on the altars."

Briefly Told News From The Wires

NEW YORK—(AP) — Evangeline Booth, national commander of the Salvation Army, is seriously ill and has been ordered to a seashore resort to recuperate. Seven weeks ago, it was said at Salvation Army headquarters, she had an attack of chronic appendicitis. She persisted in working, however, trying to fight off the illness. Her condition seemed to improve until Saturda when a turn for the worse caused physicians to order her to a seashore resort, the name of which was withheld.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Lip peeling is the latest method for providing milady with cherry-red lips, Miss Frances Martell, secretary of the American Cosmeticians' society, announced yesterday at the opening session of a two day convention. Noses have been revamped, wrinkles ironed out and double and triple chins removed, she said and now rouge may be banished for the purpose of making cupid bow lips permanently ruby.

FOUR out of FIVE are caught

IT'S sheer carelessness to let pyorrhea cause trouble in your mouth. Yet your dentist knows that four out of five past forty, and many younger, suffer from this serious gum disorder.

It begins with tender bleeding gums. Soon the teeth loosen in their sockets and the poison spreads through the system, causing rheumatism, neuritis, and other similar diseases.

Forhan's for the Gums is the simple, easy way to keep you out of pyorrhea's clutches. It's a pleasant dentifrice that firms the gums and gives the teeth a thorough cleansing. It contains Forhan's Pyorrhea Liquid which has been used by dentists for the last 15 years in the treatment of pyorrhea.

If used regularly and in time, Forhan's prevents or checks pyorrhea and so is an important safeguard to health. Begin today to use Forhan's night and morning as a wise precaution. All druggists, 35c and 60c in tubes.

Give Your Dentist a chance

Too many wait until an aching tooth forces them into the dentist's chair. It is folly to suffer this needless pain when all you have to do is to give your dentist a chance to prevent trouble in your mouth by visiting him at least twice a year for a thorough teeth and gum inspection.

ENTER CONTRACT ON MAINTENANCE

Agreement Between County and State Approved By Commissioners.

Contract On Upkeep of Roads Made Necessary By Change In Law.

A contract between the state of Nebraska and the county of Lancaster relative to the maintenance of state roads was approved by Lancaster commissioners at their regular meeting Tuesday morning and sent on to the state.

Conceived on lines similar to those laid down by R. O. Green of the state highway department and transmitted to the commissioners by letter, the contract differs in its statement regarding certain road equipment. Both state and county believe they have claims on five trucks, nine maintainers, seven graders and three patrol stations purchased some time ago. The county will keep them in custody and ownership will be decided by the Supreme court or some other acceptable arbiter.

Charge For Equipment.

In the mean time, charges for use of this equipment will be made by the county, according to days of actual use. The charges range from $25 a day for a large tractor to $3 a day for a grader. If ownership is finally vested in the state, these charges will be refunded.

The county will sell the state gas at the market price, oil at cost price plus 20 per cent, parts at cost, mechanics' service at 90 cents a day, foreman's services at $1 a day, use of a car at 8 cents a mile, and other items at cost.

One-half the salary of a county superintendent of roads will be paid by the county, half by the state The man now holding that office is W. M. Shotwell.

This contract is made necessary by a change in the state law. Since January 1, the state has taken over the responsibility of maintaining state highways through this and other counties. By contracting with the county to do the maintenance work, it will practically keep the old system in effect.

The commissioners approved a petition by thirty-six Havelock residents for appointment of Ira J. McDonald as assessor for that town in place of Mr. Hartshorn who has resigned.

Charles H. Warren & Co was awarded the contract for auditing the county's books at the flat rate of $3,025. Van Boskirk-Remington bid $12.50 a day per man, not to exceed $3,295; and E. R. Colvert bid $15 a day per man, not to exceed $3,500.

Says Moisture Is Causing Big Loss In Cribbed Corn

Reports of material damage to cribbed corn in different parts of Nebraska, which has become wet and mildewed on account of damp atmospheric conditions during a large part of the winter season are beginning to reach Lincoln and other market centers. In some localities the corn has deteriorated so much that buyers will not pay anything like the regular prices for it.

State Railway Commissioner C. A. Randall, who has just been in Madison county looking after his farms, says he found his corn moldy and beginning to rot from too much moisture. He sold different lots of it at 45, 47 and 50 cents a bushel—from 12 to 20 cents under the price which corn of standard grade would bring at the same shipping points.

"I lost a thousand dollars on my corn, and a lot of farmers up there are also heavy losers," said Mr. Randall. "It is not only the corn in open wire cribs that is damaged, but what was stored under roof in ordinary cribs is just as bad. In one case a farmer found his grain so badly mildewed and stuck and frozen together that he had to use a pick in getting it apart."

Just to show how perverse fate sometimes is, some of the corn on Randall's farms which could not be gathered before winter came on, and which still remains in the field unhusked, is in better condition than any that was shucked and stored under shelter.

Man Dies While Riding On Train

(Special to The Star.)

WYMORE, Neb., Feb. 2.—Charles Johnson, a resident of Haxtun, Col., and a passenger on a westbound Burlington railway passenger train died just before the train reached Wymore Sunday afternoon, and the body was taken off here and prepared by a local undertaker for shipment to Haxtun Monday. Johnson had been a resident of Haxtun for several years, and had been to Hot Springs, Arkansas, for his health and was returning home in charge of his doctor at the time of his death. He was also accompanied by his wife and daughter.

Insurance Co. Tax Suit Heard

Arguments were presented in supreme court Tuesday on N. M. Sommerville's appeal from the action of the Lancaster county board in 1921, cancelling an assessment of $250,000 against the Bankers' Life Insurance Co., for that year on $250,000 capital stock and surplus and $40,000 of gross premiums collected in Lancaster county, which the county assessor added to what the company itself returned for taxation.

The amount involved is $5,628 Sommerville intervened as a taxpayer. The district court sustained the county board's action, and he is asking the high bench for a reversal.

NEW GERMINATOR

The state seed testing laboratory has received a new copper seed germinator. A daylight germinator has also been put into use

About 625 samples were sent to the laboratory during January. With the new germinators the work will be expedited, thus enabling chemists to test more samples during a month.

The new machine cost approximately $380.

About 45 tracks are now in use for flat racing in North America, and five new tracks are being built. It is a conservative estimate that $400,000,000 annually is bet on races.

KING GEORGE EXPECTS NEW ARMS LIMITING

would decrease unemployment was unfortunately checked early last year by widespread depression in the coal mining industry.

Since autumn of last year, signs of a revival of industry had begun to appear but the growth of confidence upon which a revival depended was being arrested by fear of industrial strife. Announcing that the result of the commission of inquiry into the coal industry would shortly be published, he continued:

"I am well aware of the difficulties inherent in the whole situation, but the interests of the nation are paramount and I appeal to all parties to face the future in a spirit of conciliation and fellowship and avoid action which would again postpone the return of good trade and prosperity for which we have so long hoped."

Reorganization Scheme.

He announced that the government had devised a scheme for reorganization of the electrical system and that a bill would be shortly introduced to give effect to these proposals.

Agriculture was being carefully considered, proposals for improvement were being formulated and a bill would be presented to enable the extension of small holdings, as well as a measure to provide for marking of imported agricultural produce and manufactured goods "so they may be distinguished from the products of this country and empire goods distinguished from those of foreign origin."

King George at noon opened the second session of the present parliament with all the state ceremonial and color which make this event one of the most fascinating of England's pageant. ED HARRIS, A TRIPLE KILLER, IS SENTENCED an automobile and surrounded by an armed convoy of six motor trucks and passenger automobiles, Ed Harris, negro, triple murderer and attacker of a white woman, was whisked into Lexington today for trial. One thousand Kentucky national guardsmen were on watch to prevent lynching.

Harris was brought here from the Frankfort reformatory, thirty miles away. Adj. Gen. J. A. Kehoe, in taking precautions for a possible attack, ordered Lieut. Osborn Gayle of Frankfort, to walk beside the negro, cloaked like the prisoner in a blanket. Gayle is of similar stature

He led the negro from the walls of the reformatory to the waiting car only fifteen feet away and entered it. The territory around the reformatory had been roped off for two blocks

Streets Are Patrolled.

Streets were patrolled by guardsmen following last night's incident when troopers used tear gas on a group of 250 curiosity seekers who milled around the prison despite orders to disperse.

Fearing the main highway might conceal ambushers, a circuitous rote was traveled.

Upon arrival here Harris was taken to the courthouse which was surrounded by troopers.

No tobacco markets or livestock sales were held here today, civil and military authorities prevailing on those industries to close.

Visitors Not Welcome.

Likewise, interurban lines, bus lines and streetcar line officers agreed not to bring visitors into Lexington while there appeared any likelihood of a disturbance. Banks and business houses in the restricted area about the courthouse were closed. Private automobiles were stopped at the outskirts of the city

Harris faced trial charged with attack on Mrs. Clarence Bryant. The negro has confessed to the attack upon her and to murdering Clarence Bryant, farmer, her husband, and their two children, Ethel, 8, and Wilborn, 5. In his confession Harris said he killed four persons, believing Mrs. Bryant dead when he left after killing her family and attacking her.

Circuit Judge R. C. Stoll, the trial judge, cleared the courthouse yesterday and ordered all witnesses to remain away from the building until after the trial. Negroes, who will testify in other cases, were especially cautioned to remain at home.

EDITOR ADMITS LIBEL CHARGE

Edwin L. Huntley Is Paroled From Bench For Five Years.

OMAHA, Neb., Feb. 2.—(A. P.)—Forty minutes after his trial on a charge of criminal libel opened in district court Monday, Edwin L. Huntley, editor of The Mediator, weekly paper published here, pleaded guilty and was paroled from the bench for a period of five years.

The charge was preferred by Walter Head, Omaha banker, in connection with an article appearing in the paper last December, which Head alleged was an attack on his character.

The parole was granted on condition that during the period Huntley refrain from publishing or threatening to publish any libelous or scandalous articles. To do so, County Attorney Beal declared will be sufficient cause to revoke the parole.

CONTRACT FOR PARK SCHOOL

were Assenmacher, $295,495; Busboom, $295,000 and Rokaha, $293,700.

The secretary of the board reported that L. H. Hansen had not yet been located. A telegram was received Monday evening, he said, from the postmaster at Oakland, Cal., stating that Mr. Hansen had gone to Los Angeles. The postmaster of that city is co-operating with the Lincoln school board in its effort to locate Mr. Hansen.

Mr. Ludlam reported that the traffic signs had been changed to "Stop—School," uniform throughout the city. He thought this was only the third time they had been reworded and intimated that he was not at all sure it would be the last time

The board adopted the plans for landscaping and grading the Hayward school grounds. When this work is completed it is expected to be the beauty spot of the north western part of the city.

An increase of $50 a lot was made on most of the lots in the Homesite addition owned by the board of education. These lots are now on sale to the public. The addition, Randolph to F street and Thirty-second to Elmwood avenue, constitutes the tract of land originally bought for the new Randolph school but later turned into building lots.

Mr. Ludlam was authorized to confer with Mr. Lefler to consider offers of automobile firms for the purchase of four new touring cars for board employes. The board voted to buy closed cars to take the place of the present Ford touring cars.

The following recommendations were submitted by Superintendent Lefler and were adopted by the board:

"That an open-window room be established at once at the Hayward school. The school physician and the special nurse have completed their examinations to the point where it is known that more pupils are now needing this service in this school than can be accommodated in the initial opening of this room. Assignment to the room will, therefore be made in the order of relative needs as recommended by the school physician and his staff. If this recommendation is approved, it will involve the following: The employment of a teacher for the remainder of the school year; equipment consisting of cots and blankets estimated at $139; lunch not to exceed $160 for the semester.

"A similar recommendation for an open-window room at the Elliott elementary school. In addition to the necessary teacher, an amount not to exceed $230 is estimated for necessary equipment and operation. The school physician and the special nurse have already determined through special examination and study the necessary number of the pupils to be assigned to this room if it is opened.

The appointment of Miss Wilhelmina Priesner, now a teacher in the Whittier junior high school, to serve in the capacity of director of attendance, taking the place of Miss Tully Fiala who has resigned, was approved by the board.

REVOLT JUNTA IS ACTIVE AT SAN ANTONIO

in the slaying in Mexico of his 62-year-old father and several of his friends with who mhe had been in communication during his stay here as a political refugee

The day his papers were seized, Martinez was questioned by Gus Jones, in charge of department of justice office here, he said, and the following day in the same office he saw Fernando Garza, a special agent of the Calles administration, reading this correspondence.

Martinez' mail, addressed to him by name, has been opened in the mails for some weeks, the refugee leader said.

Denies Revolt Plans.

Producing the search warrant under which Manuel Sorrels, a special department of justice agent, searched his home on December 16, 1925, and which alleged that he and other leaders of the refugee group were engaged in a conspiracy to send a military expedition into Mexico, Martinez denied any revolutionary intentions. Speaking for himself and associates, including the De La Hueras, he also denied any violation of United States neutrality laws and treaty obligations.

He admitted the refugee group was attempting to discredit the Calles government because of its socialistic leanings. He scoffed at the allegations of a revolutionary conspiracy, declaring the De La Huerta sympathizers here numbered only thirty-five persons and that all were without funds. For proof of their poverty he cited the fact that they were unable to raise $500 for bond of Col. Demetrio Torres when he was held in the local county jail here a few weeks ago before he was deported and subsequently shot to death at Torreon, state of Coahuila, last week.

Washington, Feb. 2.—(By the Associated Press.)—An American reply to the note in which Mexico recently defended its new anti-alien and petroleum laws has been started on its way to Mexico City.

N. T. Brown of Seward, state food and oil inspector, has resigned and will be succeeded by P. H. Ramsey, also of Seward, it was announced today by Secretary H. J. McLaughlin, of the department of agriculture.

MITCHELL AGAIN TAKES UP FIGHT ON ARMY, NAVY

menaces to our free institutions," he asserted that "the bureaucratic party" was more powerful than the democrats and republicans. more powerful than the influence of any creed, sect or religious order.

The statement failed to disclose Mitchell's future plans. He explained, however, that he intended to visit his old home in Wisconsin upon the expiration of his lecture travels and within a year or so intended to leave the United States for a hunting expedition into Africa

Text of Statement.

The full text of Mitchell's statement follows:

"My resignation from the army, effective today, concluded a service of twenty-eight years.

"It began as a private in the First Wisconsin infantry in 1898 and has been followed through the Spanish war and Cuba, the Philippine insurrection, in Alaska while building the first telegraph lines and opening up the country, in the San Francisco catastrophe and along the Mexican border.

"The first wireless telegraph and the first automobiles in our army were developed in my organization My travels and studies have included the military and political systems in the nations of Asia and Europe

"Command of our air forces in the World war and the privilege of directing the greatest concentration of allied air power ever participating in actual combat was entrusted to me.

"The sinking of battleships by aircraft, projected and completed under my direction, has revised and changed all systems of national defense. Hostile navies are no menace to our country if there is adequate air power.

Directed Alaskan Flight.

"The flights to Alaska and later around the world, the airplane tests across the continent, which led to the establishment of the air mail, our methods of fighting in the air and the kinds of aircraft to meet our special American conditions, were also initiated under my direction.

"I look back on this record with the greatest pride and with the satisfaction that I have done everything possible for my country. After all these years of service, not one dark spot can be found on my record and not one act which does not redound to the credit of the United States.

"The United States remains today unorganized by modern defense. In spite of the expenditure of nearly five hundred million dollars for aviation since the war and the loss of scores of our airmen, we have no real military air force for the protection of our great country We are left hopelessly behind in our civil and commercial aviation and we have no plan or system whatever for furthering and developing this most important agency.

"This condition is due to the blind oposition of the regular army and navy bureaucracies that have abrogated to themselves the policy of standing squarely in the way of any progress and constantly advocate the theories of the bow and arrow men of a barbarous age. Calling to their aid the instrumentalities of propaganda and unionized control, they have consistently and purposely misled congress and the people as to what this country needs to insure its security. They have entrenched themselves behind a bureaucratic system run by self-perpetuating oligarchies.

"They have manipulated the laws so that they can control the armed forces even against the action of the president himself. They have coerced, bulldozed and attempted to ruin patriotic officers who have disagreed with their views and who sought to beter our national defense, which the officers and men of the armed services know is necessary.

Says Confidence Lacking.

"Due to the military bureaucracies, our land and sea forces, composed of splendid men, are shaken in their conception of duty, dubious of their own future.

"The inexcusable losses to our air and sea forces are mute examples of inefficiency and negligence, in spite of the vigorous whitewashing attempted by the army, navy and legislative boards

"When the actions of the army and navy are brought into question, they themselves are the sole judges of their shortcomings

"The military bureaucracy, resisting all innovations, has become such that it is impossible to secure any needed changes in the system The reasons they give are veiled in mystery and secrecy, so as to confuse the public, whereas, actually the conditions to be met are simple and public. This is one of the greatest menaces to our free institutions that has ever occurred. The bureaucratic party, as it might be called, in its inner workings in Washington, is more powerful than the democrats and republicans, more powerful than the influence of any creed or sect or religious order Our government has become one of bureaucratic domination This condition must be stopped.

"Our national defense should be sub-departments for the air forces, the land forces and the sea forces, each with an equal voice and each privileged to present their views without restraint or coercion to a secretary of national defense and to congress.

Single Concrete Problem.

"National defense is a single concrete problem for the whole country. It is not an army and navy matter alone. Our defense must not be unionized any more than the police forces of our cities

"Every civilized nation in the world has taken the recommendations into account and has arranged its defenses accordingly We lag behind, due to the blind, ignorant and bigoted opposition of our army and navy.

"In our beloved America, the greatest of all countries, we must adopt a national defense policy, founded on our particular needs, based on the abundance of our raw materials, the excellence of our industries and the remarkable intelligence of our people

"I have the greatest respect and affection for my comrades in the army and navy, with whom I have participated in many campaigns and expeditions, and with my companions in the air service, who are the principal ones we must look to for our security. I shall keep close touch with them in the future.

"Every statement I have made has been supported by good and sufficient evidence. Good has already followed and much more will result.

"From now on, I feel that I can better serve my country and the flag I love by bringing a realization of the true condition of our international defense straight to the people, than by remaining muzzled in the army.

"I shall always be on hand in case of war or emergency, wherever I am needed."

SAYS COMPLIED WITH STATE LAW

the statement added. "When the capital stock was paid in it was paid at a premium, said premium becoming the new surplus which had to be in the company in lieu of the old surplus which was paid out."

Mr Young said the legal reservers were in no way touched and still remain intact

Dumont Finds No Violation.

State Insurance Commissioner Dumont, who is named as one of the defendants in the suit filed at Omaha by a policyholder of the North American National, seeking an accounting of its affairs, said Tuesday morning that he knows of no law which would prohibit the sale of its stock by those owning the shares to whomever they saw fit to sell to. Neither does he find any statute which forbids a company organized in Nebraska to maintain offices in another state.

"Of course the home office and records of the business must remain in Nebraska," said Mr. Dumont, "and all official meetings of the company must be held here The company itself remains under supervision of this state. It has $100,000 of approved securities deposited with this department, and will not be permitted to withdraw any part of them. The company owns the building in Omaha where it has heretofore been doing business. This building is valued in its statement at $100,000

"There has been no merger of the North American National with the Cotton States Life of Nashville, Tenn., or with any other company. A merger would require the approval of this department, which has not been given, and it could take place only between two companies that were admitted to do business in Nebraska

"I gave permission during the early part of January for the removal of the executive offices to Nashville, Tenn., because I could nothing in the law to prevent this being done."

Slight Reductions In Premiums For 1926 County Fair

One new department, that of eggs, was added, with H. W Hunt, who also has charge of bees and honey, at its head.

CATHOLICS HEAR REV. J. W. GRACE

Rev. William J. Grace, president of Creighton university, spoke Monday evening before the Fitzgerald assembly, Fourth degree Knights of Columbus, at a meeting and dinner held at the Grand hotel.

Reverend Grace urged that the members of the assembly should go half-way at least in meeting those of other faiths.

Much of the misunderstanding and intolerance in our country is caused by the fact that neither side fully understands the other man's viewpoint, he said. If each man will but go half-way to meet his neighbor this intolerance would vanish, he asserted.

He spoke of his own experience as an educator, and said that before he occupied a position which brought him into contact with men of other faiths he had not realized the necessity of the "half-way" meeting

He urged the men to participate more actively in the civic life of their city and not to stand aloof and take part only in their own undertakings.

A short sketch of the work done by six Catholic priests and one layman in the early seventeenth century in converting the Indians formed a part of his address.

Ed Lamb, of Beaver City, who has but recently returned from the Holy Year jubilee, at Rome, spoke briefly, recounting some of the incidents of his trip.

There were about fifty present.

Officials of the chamber of commerce were highly elated Tuesday because a picture taken of a chamber booster party had been reproduced in a leading national weekly.

The picture appeared with a story on "A Defense of Boosters," and shows the group which made the trip to Cheyenne, Wyo., leaving Lincoln May 9, 1920, and returning May 15 It had been reduced considerably but chamber members were able to pick out quite a number of those in the group

What Real Oven-baking means

Only when beans are really oven-baked can the label say "baked." So, look for "oven-baked" on the label.

Heinz beans are oven-baked. That's what develops the taste in them—the taste that brings the plates back for more.

They're oven-baked—that's what keeps the nutrition in and makes them so easy to digest.

They're oven-baked—that's why the words "oven-baked" appear on the label.

"Dutch" Zwilling on Job as Links' Team Leader

DODGE ATHLETE DUMPS RUSSIAN

Stecher Scissors Squeezes Strongman From Europe Into Submission.

New York Arena Packed To Doors; Five Thousands Turned Back.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(I.N.S.)—Joe Stecher of Dodge, Neb., stood forth today with the clearest claim to the world's heavyweight wrestling title an American has enjoyed almost back to the day of Frank Gotch.

Stecher threw Ivan Puddubny, the so-called "Ivan the Invincible," last night in one hour, thirty-eight minutes and forty-seven seconds with his famous body scissors and the incident meant the first defeat for the Russian in twenty-five years.

TURNED AWAY AT DOORS.

Outweighing the American by many pounds and having a clear advantage in strength, Puddubny was unable to match his rival's speed and science and these won the day.

The greatest crowd that ever viewed a wrestling contest in this city saw the match.

No less than 14,000 were in the hall when the men entered the ring and all of 5,000 were turned away at the doors.

The end came with startling rapidity, although Stecher had forced the going from the opening moment and twice Stecher gained his body scissors hold. Ivan, however, called on his great strength and broke free.

SCISSORS DOES BUSINESS.

Suddnely Stecher leaped through the air at Puddubny and, brought him to the floor. For a few minutes, the Russian managed to hold his own but Stecher merely maneuvered him into the position he wanted. When he had done so, his legs shot out, circled Ivan's abdomen, the heels locked and the end was not far away.

Puddubny struggled vainly to break the terrible grip, but his strength ebbed rapidly as Stecher's knee almost disappeared in the folds of flesh on the Russian's paunch. Then Stecher ended it by applying an arm lock in conjunction with the scissors, the Russian subsiding two minutes later.

Meyers Downs Bylund.

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—Johnny Meyers, world's middleweight wrestling champion, last night defeated Bobby Bylund of Minneapolis two out of three falls. Meyers took the first fall in 40:28 with a head and scissors double wristlock. Bylund won the second fall with a headlock in 11:50 and Meyers took the deciding fall in 7:50 with a scissors on the head and double wristlock.

Links' Pilot In Town For Brief Visit

BY "CY" SHERMAN.

"Dutch" Zwilling hopped into Lincoln today to get on his job as pilot of the 1926 Links. The new team leader of the local Western league aggregation, who came from his home in Kansas City, explained that he was here for the day only, the chief purpose of his visit being to confer with Charles N. Moon, the Links' business manager, relative to the players on the Lincoln reserve list. It will be Zwilling's immediate task to decide whom to retain and whom to send to other circuits. After the decision has been rendered, Manager "Dutch" announced today that he would get busy in negotiating for new talent.

String of Deals Pending.

"I have a number of deals and trades pending," Zwilling informed The Star, "and hope that within two or three weeks I shall make definite progress toward lining up a club that will be in the running for the pennant.

"After looking over the list of reserved players, I figure we shall probably need another experienced catcher, a hard-hitting first baseman, at least one additional infielder, a right-handed hitting outfielder who can smack the ball and at least three capable pitchers, two southpaws preferred. That means there is considerable to do toward getting the Links in shape to start the race

Arnold Ready to Spend.

"I have positive assurance that Larry Arnold, club owner, is willing to spend some real money for ball players capable of delivering and I am going right after players of that type.

"So far as Lincoln is concerned. I am confident all the local situation requires is a winning club. I played in this league with St. Joseph when Lincoln was rated as one of the best ball towns on the circuit. It had winning teams in those days and that's all it needs now. I don't wonder that the interest suffered after two seasons of bringing up the rear in the percentage table. Lincoln will come back, I haven't a doubt, if we give the fans what they want and

DUKE BETS COIN ON FRENCH STAR

British Aristocrat Peels Roll; Backs Suzanne Against Helen.

VICTOR IN DOUBLES MATCH.

NICE, France, Feb. 2.—(I. N. S.)—Helen Wills and her partner, C. F. Aeschlimann, slashed their way into the third round of the mixed doubles o fthe Nice tournament here with little or no difficulty today.

Miss Wills and Aeschlimann, the Swiss champion, defeated Mlle. Neveu and Mr. Christie, 6-0, 6-0, with a whirlwind attack.

Later they met the English doubles team, Miss Good and Mr. Caulfield, and defeated them, 6-0, 6-1.

Their second victory was almost equally one-sided, Miss Evelyn Woods and Mr. Caulfield being overwhelmed 6-0, 6-1.

The showing made by Miss Wills and her partner today makes it practically certain that they will meet Mlle. Lenglen and Baron de Morphurgo in the finals.

BY FREDERICK K. ABBOTT.

NICE, Feb. 2—(I. N. S.)—Suzanne Lenglen shifted her interest from tennis today long enough to laugh at the Riveria gossips who are discussing her possible marriage.

Suzanne and Helen Wills were found earnestly discussing the relative merits of English and American tennis balls, when the writer came to inquire from Suzanne whether she was ready to confirm the Riviera report that the Duke of Westminster had proposed to her.

"Oh, mon dieu!" shrieked Suzanne, laughingly turning to Miss Wills. "Listen to that! Everybody is anxious to marry me off except my mother and father."

Fast Work With Helen

The California girl, smilingly suggested:

"I am not surprised. They have already had several offers of marriage reported made to me and I have been here only a little more than two weeks.

"I admit that I see the Duke often," said Suzanne. "What of it? I am fond of him as a friend, but this is the first time I ever heard he had any intention of suggesting marriage. I can't understand how such rumors start.

"The duke is a fine man, why I have even introduced him to Miss Wills."

Yank Girl Enters Protest.

Miss Wills jumped up and shook her finger jokingly at Suzanne, interjecting:

"Here, here, don't drag me into this or they will say the Duke jilted you for me."

"Why are they so anxious to get us married," laughed Suzanne.

"Perhaps they think we play better doubles than singles," said Miss Wills with a smile.

Duke Does Some Betting.

The Duke of Westminster rumor appears to have originated in London. The Duke, it is understood, is interested in Suzanne and her tennis success in a sporting way, for it is rumored that he has laid heavy odds that she will defeat Miss Wills and he is said to be willing to take still more bets that the American girl will not defeat the French star.

Every one here expects that Miss Wills and Suzanne will face each other across the nets in the mixed doubles, for the first time. Suzanne and her partner, Baron de Morphurgo, have rather easy sledding in the upper half, while Miss Wills and C. F. Aeschlimann will have to dispose of some talented players if they enter the finals. They must meet Mrs. Satterthwaite and F. M. Fisher, and Mrs. Radcliffe and Stanley Doust, both capable opponents.

Fairmont Teams Win Double Bill

FAIRMONT, Neb., Feb. 2.—Fairmont high defeated Henderson in basketball here Saturday night, 18 to 9. The Fairmont reserves won a 5-4 victory over Grafton.

Captain Kemp was high point man for Fairmont. Coach Wendell Sanderson substituted freely during the last half.

Tamora Wins Game.

TAMORA, Neb., Feb. 2.—Tamora high swamped the Seward reserves in basketball here Saturday, 30 to 4. L. Booth and Wied led the scoring for Tamora with 11 points each. Tamora has won three of the eight games played this year. Remaining games:

Feb. 5.—Cordova at Cordova.
Feb. 12.—Open.
Feb. 19.—Gresham at Tamora.
Feb. 26.—Ulysses at Tamora.

Hoppe Master Of 18.1, Hardest Billiard Game

BY AL DEMAREE.

Did you know there was a championship involved in 18.1 balk line billiards, as well as in 18.2? Neither did I. But Edouard Horemans, who held in 18.2 title just long enough to take a "cup of coffee" before Jake Schaefer knocked him off, has challenged Willie Hoppe, the 18.1 champ.

This brings to notice a game which has been dormant for years and a possible revival of the most difficult of all billiard table pastimes.

Hoppe is the present title-holder and has had no competition in recent years. In 18.2 billiards the players are permitted to make two billiards or points in the balks, which are indicated by chalk lines drawn 18 inches from the rail, provided one of the object balls is driven out of balk on the second shot. In the 18.1 game an object ball must be driven from the restricted space each shot. High runs of 100 or more are scarce.

JOHN BULL'S BEST TO MEET YANKEES

Mitchell and Tolley Lined Up For Golf Classic With Hagen and Jones.

BY DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(I. N. S.)—According to advices arriving from England today, Bobby Jones, probably the best of a very fine lot, will be asked to team up with Walter Hagen in a world's championship amateur-professional, best ball match next summer while the American invasion of Great Britain is on.

Abe Mitchell, British professional match play champion, and Cyril Tolley, British amateur champion several times over, have been suggested as the other members of the illustrious foresome.

Tentative plans call for the match to take place a few days after the British amateur championships so that even if Jones decides to pass up the open event, he will be available for the special match.

MONEY BAIT FOR "PROS."

It seems to have been taken for granted that the others will rise to the proposition, probably because it is felt that neither Hagen nor Mitchell will be incensed by the fact that they will be paid serious money for their appearance, while Tolley will be appealed to from a patriotic angle. In brief, the British seem to think rather well of a Tolley-Mitchell team.

However, it is not definitely settled, even in the premature plans, that it will be an all-British team against an all-American.

One proposal that seems to find some favor would send the two amateurs against the professionals, purely as a class issue, to prove just how well the types of play compare.

Those who feel this way about it point out that Jones always at the top of his form, is a match for any professional in the game, while Tolley has his moments when he is almost unbeatable.

INTERNATIONAL FLAVOR.

But, since he is not compelled to have them in this match, it is felt by the majority that the interests of competition would be better served by sending the amateur-professional combination of each nation into the affair. This program also would mean more from an international standpoint.

Since Hagen has declined to meet Mitchell in a special match for $2,500 a side because he says he will have no gambling in his, it is proposed that cash prizes be posted for the professionals to shoot at, and trophies for the amateurs.

YANK PAIR PLENTY GOOD.

Since the affair will be conducted at match play, few can take issue with the English choice of Jones and Hagen as a representative American team. Jones in winning the open title, tying for another and taking two amateur championships during the last few years, stands absolutely alone in the amateur field. Hagen staked himself to an off-season in 1925, but won the P. G. A. title, carrying with it the professional match play championship of the country.

He, therefore, is better qualified to represent America in a match of this kind than either Willie MacFarlane or Jim Barnes, respective open champions of America and England, would be.

Miss Helen Johnson of Spokane, Wash., sister of Alfred Johnson, one of America's premier jockeys, is fast winning fame as a rider.

BUTLER BACK TO MAJOR LEAGUE

White Sox Castoff Goes To Brooklyn On Swap For Six Players.

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—(AP)—The Brooklyn Nationals today announced they had closed a deal for Johnny Butler, star shortstop of the Minneapolis American association club, in exchange for five players outright and the choice of a sixth under optional agreement.

The Minneapolis club obtains two veteran infielders, Jim ("Cotton") Tierney and Horace Ford, outfielders Dick Loftus and Pitchers John Hollingsworth and Wilber Hubbell under terms of the transaction.

In addition, the Millers will have their choice of three young infielders of the Brooklyn roster—Corgan, who came from Wichita, Kas., late last season; Bissonette, with York, Pa., in the New York-Pennsylvania league last year; and Herman, who played with Topeka, Kas., in 1925.

(Editor's Note: Johnny Butler wore Lincoln spangles during the season of 1917, the last year of Ducky Holmes' direction of the local Western league club. After several years in the Pacific Coast loop, Johnny came back to the Western and had three years of service in a Wichita uniform. The Chicago White Sox had Butler during the 1925 spring training season but turned him loose and the player drifted back to the minors to enjoy a brilliant season with the Minneapolis Millers. Today the Butler whom the Sox turned back is again headed for the Majors on a trade for six players of unquestioned class. Although rated in the dope as a "star" at shortstop, Butler is best at third.)

Valparaiso Has Two Open Dates

VALPARAISO, Neb., Feb. 2.—Valparaiso high has two open dates on its football schedule—Feb. 19 and March 5. The local tossers would like to schedule some school that would sign on a home-and-home agreement. If the school is unable to play Friday games, the locals can arrange for mid-week contests. Coaches interested shou'd communicate with Coach M. R. Boren.

Farmer Burns at Armory Tonight

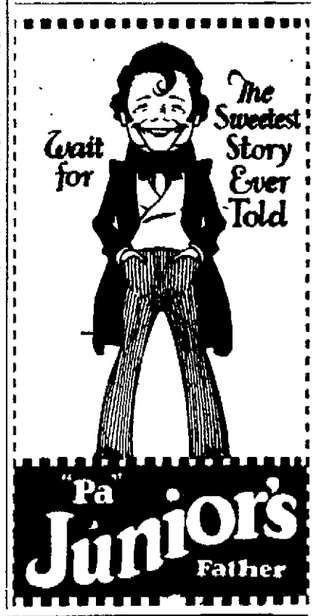

"Farmer" Burns, veteran and trainer of the late Frank Gotch, former heavyweight champion, will deliver a lecture at the university at 7:30 tonight.

The "Farmer" will explain the science of wrestling and the different holds used in matches. No admission will be charged.

Joie Ray Barred By A. A. U. Czars

CHICAGO, Feb. 2.—(A. P.)—Joie Ray, crack miler of the Illinois A. C. and eight times national champion at the distance, is not included in the club's contingent of ten which departs today for the Millrose New York games on Thursday.

His non-appearance will be a decided disappointment in the east, where it was hoped Joie would retrieve his renounced amateur standing so he could participate. The registration committee of the central A. A. U. has been deluged with telegrams urging that he be reinstated, but his status is unchanged.

You chaps who roll your own

TUNE-IN on this little talk about one grand and glorious cigarette tobacco—Prince Albert, and nobody else! Here's makin's tobacco that has satisfaction woven right in the selvage. You'll check with that when the first fragrant puff percolates through your smoke-system.

P. A. is crimp-cut and stays put. Doesn't float away on the first breeze. A home-rolled P. A. cigarette smokes cool and sweet, no matter how hard you pull on it. Burns better too. Just never was a cigarette tobacco like good old P. A., and that's a fact.

Hot-diggity-dog, how you'll go to it with P. A.! You'll make one right after another. Not a nip or a scorch in a ton . . . the Prince Albert process settled that years ago. Get you a tidy red tin or a toppy red bag of Prince Albert today. Get the joy that's due you.

While you're about it, tuck a wad of P. A. into the muzzle of that old jimmy-pipe. The tobacco that makes such wonderful cigarettes goes equally well in a pipe. Don't say you "can't smoke a pipe." Give P. A. a workout. Sure—you'll like a pipe!

P. A. is sold everywhere in tidy red tins and toppy red bags. And always with every bite of bite and parch removed by the Prince Albert process.

Your "B" batteries will last longer

Add a "C" battery to your radio battery equipment and your "B" batteries will last much longer. To make it easy for radio owners to know just which Eveready "B" Batteries they should use, we have established the following simple rules:

On 1 to 3 tubes—Use Eveready No. 772.
On 4 or more tubes — Use the Heavy Duty "B" Batteries, either No. 770, or the even longer-lived Eveready Layerbilt No. 486.
On all but single tube sets—Use a "C" battery.

When these rules are followed, the No. 772 will last for a year or more, and the Heavy Duties for eight months or longer, when listening at the year-round average of two hours a day.

Note: In addition to the increased life which an Eveready "C" Battery gives to your "B" batteries, it will add a quality of reception unobtainable without it.

Market Quotations

GRAIN MARKETS.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Ill., Jan. 2.

Although speculative buying in the wheat market today was not large, the purchasing exceeded the volume of offerings and had a stimulating effect on values. Much of the buying was for traers who previously had been on the selling side of the market. Friends of high prices emphasized talk of omestic shortage and of undue elay on the part of Europe in obtaining supplies.

Wheat closed firm, ⅜ to 1⅛c net higher, corn ⅜c off to ⅛c up and oats at ⅛ to ⅜c decline.

WHEAT—Unexpected upturns in quotations at Liverpool and at Winnipeg, together with wet weather in Argentina, carried wheat values higher, here, today during the first part of board of trade session. It was generally assumed that the rains in Argentina would delay the crop movements there. On the other hand apparent absence of export dmand for North American wheat tended to make prices again difficult to uphold. Chicago opening figures ⅜ to 1¼c higher, May, new, 1.76⅛ to 1.78⅝ and July, $1.56⅜ to 1.54 were followed by numerous fluctuations within a range of about 1c.

CORN—Corn and oats were easy, influenced by a large stock in sight and by dearth of any depressing demand. After opening⅛ off to ⅛c up. May 83⅜c, the corn underwent a moderate general sag.

OATS—Oats started unchanged to ⅜c higher, May 42⅜ to 42⅝. Later the market showed declines.

PROVISIONS were dull and irregular.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By the Associated Press.
NEW YORK, Jan. 2.

The main body of stocks fluctuated irregularly within a narrow trading area today while speculative interest converged almost entirely on a small group of public utilities and specialties, which were bid up in brisk fashion. Marking up of the renewal rate on call money to 5 per cent, precipitated another bear attack which carried many of the motor and other popular industrial issues down one to two points below their earlier high figures, but they rallied again when the return flow of funds from interior banks carried call money rates down to 4½. The luncertainty regarding the volume of brokers loans, which probably will be made public this week, had a restraining effect on the operations of large traders. Further advances in crude oil and gasoline prices failed to stimulate activity in the oil shares. Buying of the rails was restricted by the increased wage demands of employes, although Canadian Pacific developed special strength in reflection of an increased foreign demand for that stock.

Stock prices moved within rather narrow and irregular limits at the opening of today's market, but the main tendency was again upward. Initial gains of a point or more are recorded by American Woolen, Du Pont and Gold Dust, the last named touching a new record high. Oils were slow in responding to the announcement of higher crude oil and gasoline prices.

Public utilities sprang into speculative favor on a revival of merger reports. Electric Power, Philadelphia Company and Montana Power selling 1½ to 2 points higher before the end of the first half hour. Bullish demonstrations also were successfully conducted in a number of sugars, tobacco and specialties. Great Western Sugar jumped 4 points, United Fruit 3 and Ludium Steel, Coca Cola, Associated Oil, American Tobacco and Canadian Pacific advanced 1 to 2½ points. There were a few soft spots. Ward "B" sold off as a result of opposition to the proposed gigantic baking merger and heaviness cropped out in the Interboro Rapid Transit and Atlantic, Gulf & West Indies. Foreign exchanges opened steady. Demand sterling ruled firm around 4.86 3-16, and cables hild within 1-16 of a cent of gold parity. French francs eased slightly to 3.74c.

Persistent accumulation of a varied assortment of public utility issues, a reduction in the rates for call loans to 4½ per cent after renewals had been made at 5 and buoyance of various specialties caused the market to rally briskly at midday after an interval of selling in which a number of shares were depressed from one to three points. Westinghouse Airbrake advanced 5½ and People's Gas, Canadian Pacific, National Biscuit, U. S. Drug and Gold Dust 3 to 4. South Porto Rican Sugar touched a new high at 1.47½ after declining to 1.42¼.

The closing was strong. Total sales approximated 1,400,000 shares.

Rabbi Starrells Talks to Rotary On Universalism

If universalism of religion is to come it must lose its superiority complex, Rabbi Starrells of the Jewish Temple told members of the Rotary club at their noon luncheon Tuesday at the Lincoln hotel. The love of God is universal for all men, he said, adding that in his opinion Ghandi, a Hindu, carrying religion to millions of people, is the greatest religious leader of the age.

The righteous gentile who lives a clean, wholesome, upright religious life, the speaker said, is just as good in the sight of the Lord as the high priest, for God has no favorites and only led the Israelites out of Egypt because of his love for justice.

The Jew and the gentile are striving for the same goal, the top of the mountain of truth and of light, Rabbi Starrels declared. "Some go one way, some another but the goal of all is always the same, and those who find it learn that God distributes his blessings to all alike, jfst as he does the sunshine and life.

Minerva's Mail

TAKE YOUR TROUBLES TO MINERVA

On Which Side?

Ahe the merrymakers who find pleasure in stepping in rhythm and in twain to the hypnotizing harmonies of a snappy orchestra harboring hate and talking venomously of the non-dancers, those objecting persons who stay far from the strains of the intoxicating music and shake doleful heads over those who indulge? The writer of the letter below doesn't think the dancers can be bothered with any thoughts other than those of passing pity for the non-dancers and thinks the venom is on the other side.

However that may be, her letter touches upon some interesting points in an entertaining manner:

Dear Minerva: "The very strongest indictment against the dance, to my mind, is that when the surface is off venomous hatred for non-dancing folk is found beneath the surface." The Ardent Suffragette in the mail of November 19 last. Having been out of the city from Thanksgiving on, spending the holidays with relatives in another state, consequently I am making a rather belated reply to that gross exaggeration. We who dance do not hate the non-dancers; our feelings towards them are more akin to pity; the "hatred" is not on our side.

I have been a constant reader of this Mail for many years and I can not recall a single instance where those who dance have attacked those who don't, but not so the other way around. If "Ardent" will read the Scriptures which she professes to follow so closely she will find that they say: "Woe unto him from whom offenses come," in other words; to be a little bit careful about throwing the first stone If one were to condemn all literature and refuse to read any books or magazines because a few of them are below par we would not only regard that person as rather biased and ignorant but a little bit contrary as well. It is most unfortunate that "Ardent" has always lived in communities where the wrong kind of dancing has prevailed and that she has permitted herself to become so embittered and prejudiced upon the subject as her letters show her to be People who think that dancing is hugging are either just "talking through their hats" to keep an argument running or else they must be as ignorant and low minded as the school teacher who tore a picture of Cupid and Phyche out of a text book because her polluted mind could not distinguish the difference between a great work of art and an obscenity. The dance, like life, is what you make it. There is much that is good and beautiful in the dance. "Resist the Devil and he will flee from you" you know; look for the good and you will be rewarded by finding it but "Ardent" refuses to look. She reminds me of an incident I heard a minister tell about; two men were walking through a garden; one saw only the toads, the bugs and the worms and everything horrible while the other saw the trees and the flowers, the green grass and the birds and all that was fine and beautiful.

At this late date little is to be gained by discussing the letter of "Miss 1925" which was published last May and which most of the readers have perhaps forgotten by this time but since "Ardent" thinks that "Miss 1925" has "just Jim Dandy parents" I would like to tell her that I think this unfortunate girl is afflicted with regular Jim Crow parents and there is some difference of opinion here but without that this page could not exist and would have run out long ago.

While I do not believe in permitting children to run wild, neither do I favor going to the other extreme as the parents of "Miss 1925" did; deprive them of all liberty and friends and amusements. To keep children constantly tied to your apron strings makes them soft, backward, ignorant and incapable of caring for themselves—a very deplorable state to be in. The San Francisco Chronicle of January 4th quotes Rabbi Louis I. Newman as saying: "It is youth's privilege to learn through error You cannot make it easier for them by making all their decisions." and the same great newspaper on January 2nd contained the following article: "Flapper Finds Defender in Jane Adams. Although Jane Adams is 65 years old, she carries a banner in the parade of modern youth. 'Oh, the youth of today is all right,'" she said on her recent visit to this city in an interview with a reporter. "The modern girl is too much abused. Give youth its freedom. The girl of today is healthier and broader in her new clothes and her bobbed hair. I'll wager there was a row when young men began to clip their hair in the seventeenth century."

While I do not condone "petting" I know that the petters of today are merely a modern version of the spooners of yesteryear. The world has survived the silly spooners and it will continue despite the peppy petters and not go to the bow-wows either. It makes me tired to hear people ranting against the new dances Time was when the old dances were new and the Charleston of today is no worse than the Cake Walk of two or three decades ago. As yet "Ardent" has not enlightened us as to why she called Minerva's page an "Annie Laurie Department Here is a chance for her to do some real missionary work by enlightening the benighted. Very respectfully—MRS V A V.

A Busy Mother.

Dear Minerva: Although "Another Mother's" letter appeared some time ago I have been too busy to write before—have been, and still am helping a neighbor care for a very sick baby, and have been up nights so much that I couldn't write a helpful letter to anybody if I had to. However, if I send you my address (as I shall with this note) will you please see that "Another Mother" gets it in case she calls for it?

You see I don't live in Lincoln and my own home is in Colorado so I guess I'm about as far east as I'll ever get, but if she cares to write to me maybe we can both get a little help in talking things over. She asks what I have done to keep my boy with me The answer is "a little of everything." When he was very small I went back to my profession—nursing— for a while. But that was so hard, double duty, with his care as well as that of my patients that I couldn't keep it up For a while I sewed. One summer I spent in the mountains, helping a friend who looks after tourists who go up there to hunt and fish. Of course when I suggested housekeeping as a profession my family set up a howl. It seemed to me that if I needed a home for my boy, some father must need a mother for his children, and by being very careful of the employer I choose I have succeeded in making a fair substitute for a home for us, and have been pretty well satisfied too. But there are employers and employers—and I'd never advise anyone to follow in my steps unless they liked children and housekeeping better than anything else, and were pretty sure of their ability to handle men, as well as the children.

Last summer I raised turkeys and chickens. You see, with me, it's generally a case of take what offers and make the best of it. But it has all kept me and my boy together, so I'm satisfied.

Of course I've always kept a sort of mental proviso—when he was old enough I'd put him in a good school and stop this migratory life. But so far I haven't been able to make up my mind to do it. We mothers are selfish, I guess.

O appreciated your answer to me very much, Minerva. Sometimes a word of encouragement helps more than anything in the world—and I think you are quite right in your answer to "Another Mother." She will find her place, I know, and because of those babies will do well. We all manage some way, if we just have someone to work for. A Mother

A Buffet Supper.

Dear Minerva: How does one serve a buffet supper? I am very anxious to know every detail as I am planning on having one. Anxious A. At a very large buffet supper the guests partake of refreshments standing. If space permits however it is better to provide chairs. It is also nice, if possible ,to have small tables informally arranged here and there for the convenience of the guests who do not enjoy balancing a plate in hands or on the lap.

The food, china, silver and napkins are arranged on one table to make service as easy as possible. The table should be made attractive with dainty cloth. Flowers and perhaps candles lighted. The courses in the menu should be arranged so the food can be easily eaten with a fork or spoon. Knives are awkward for the buffet meal.

A fruit cocktail makes a pleasing first course. These are served in individual glasses and arranged on one side of the table with spoons arranged near by. Sliced baked ham may be placed on a platter. This with scalloped potatoes and sandwiches may form the second course. Or assorted cold meats, baked beans, potato salad and brown bread make an appetizing supper. Arrange the plates in piles, the forks near the meat course and the napkins at the left of the plates. On opposite corners of the table place dishes of celery curls and olives and a plate of sandwiches.

If you serve a torte or fluff dessert of some sort it may also be placed on the table. If you serve ice cream and cake, it should be brought in after the first and second courses have been enjoyed and removed. Coffee may be served from an urn at a small side table or the filled cups may be served from the kitchen.

CHAPTER 47.

"Before I ask my one question," Miss Hay stipulated, "you must make me a promise just as you have insisted that I make you one. It is that you will answer me truthfully, even at the risk of hurting my feelings."

The man breathed more freely. It was evident that she was not going to touch on the one subject he could not discuss.

"I promise," he agreed.

"Well, then, the question I must ask—and the last one—is whether you are determined not to marry because if you did you would leave me alone? Tell the truth now Jack. I know you never lie—yet you are always so good and gentle to me that you may be afraid of wounding me. Dear—if I thought that you loved a girl, and gave her up on my account— I could not bear it. I could live alone—really I could—much as I enjoy having you here with me. But you must not think of me, Jack."

John Hay leaned forward and kissed her on the forehead before he replied. His eyes were so tender and clear that she knew he was going to answer her right from his soul.

"Dear Aunt Kate, in deciding not to marry I have not considered you for an instant My resolution would be the same if you were living on the other side of the world—or were already in Heaven, where I hope you will not go for many a long year.

"Yes!" she drew a long breath of relief. "Honestly, that idea has worried me, Jack, ever since Jim told me of his engagement For I was afraid that, now that he was going away, a mistaken sense of duty might make you feel you had to stay right here with old me."

"My sense of duty does not work along those lines," John declared. "I cannot explain further, dear, except that my resolution to become a bachelor has in it no dark nor sinister secret. It is simply that I would never marry without love, and I have proof that I shall never love any woman whom I could marry. See?" he added with a laugh. "Now suppose we let the matter rest and think and talk of something more interesting."

"All right," she assented.

As he picked up his book and seemed to bury himself in it, she followed suit Yet while her eyes were on the printed words her thoughts were busy. She was remembering that John had said before this evening,—only a little while ago,—that the girl whom he loved would never love him. He had not voiced any such conviction until recently.

What had brought about this state of mind?

She had promised not to question him and not to talk of the matter again. But that did not mean that she must not think of it. She was not responsible for her thoughts. Anyway, they could make no difference to John.

So she sat in scilence, reviewing mentally the past few weeks. There had been no girl that she knew of in the life of her favorite nephew except Alice Fitzgerald, with whom he had seemed glad to talk whenever he met her in church. And once, when Kate Hay had spoken admiringly of the child, John's eyes looked pleased and wistful. Yes, she remembered that look now. She had wondered if it meant anything.

Of coruse, it did not. Jim became engaged to Alicee and and told Jack all about it at once And Jack had been happy in his brother's happiness.

Had he really been happy? He had looked pale lately and had been more quiet than usual. She had noticed it, also that his appetite had not been up to the mark.

An uneasy fear stirred within her. Could these little changes be due to John's regret at his brother's engagement?

Of course, they could not. Had he not told her only a few minutes ago that he was not the least bit depressed about Jim's planned departure from the home? There could be nothing else connected with the engagement, unless it was something connected with the other party to the arrangement—Alice herself.

Miss Hay found that the hands holding her book were trembling slightly. How absurd of her to be so silly! John did not care for Alice. If he did—

She paused to gaze at that possibility. If he did care—what would he do?

Exactly what he was doing, of course. He would behave as if he were happy in his brother's happiness, would forget himself in Jim's good luck.

Outwardly ,at least, he would do that. But in his heart—

She could not stand the idea of John's possible unhappiness. She had let her silly fancies run on wildly. She must change the current of her thoughts, or, at least must say something to the object of her solicitude.

She did not believe John had turned over a single page since he took up that book. Perhaps he, like herself, was only pretending to read.

"Jack," he said suddenly, "do you like that book, dear? What is the name of it?"

Her companion looked up as if dazed before answering.

"Oh, this book? Why, yes, I guess it's pretty fair, although I have not gone far in it yet. The name of it is"—she saw his eyes drop to the title before he continued—"the name of it is—'Crucial Crisis.' Not a bad title, is it? Rather intriguing, I think.' 'Yes," she agreed, "the title is rather intriguing. And so are crucial crises when they come to us"

"I do not fancy anyone escapes them at some point in life,' John replied

There was nothing in his voice to indicate that his speech held any personal significance.

Actress Tells Story

Tells How to Darken Gray Hair With a Home-Made Mixture.

Joicey Williams, the well-known American actress, recently made the following statement about gray hair, and how to darken it, with a home-made mixture.

"Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will gradually darken gray, streaked or faded hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water add 1 ounce of bay rum, a small box of Barbo Compound, and 1-4 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years younger. It does not color the scalp, is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off."—Advertisement.
